STATE EXTENDS INSPECTION OF PORTS RECORDS

Kalbfleisch Refuses to Give Reason for Removing Clerical Official.

EXAMINERS ALSO SILENT

Zook Told by Superiors to Check Figures Up to Suspension Date.

Allen K. Ports, clerk of municipal court, had been suspended today by Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, and it was learned from reliable sources that the state examiner's audit of court records had revealed evidences of financial irregularity.

Examiner Elmer Zook, who has been auditing city and municipal court records, said he could not comment on the report However, he did say that he had been in Columbus yesterday conferring on the case and that he had been instructed to continue the audit through the close of business yesterday.

Silent on Reason.

Judge Kalbfleisch suspended Ports late yesterday, but would not say why he had taken such action, or confirm the report that there might be financial irregularities in Ports' accounts.

"I can't say right now why I suspended Ports," the judge said.

Frank Thomas, deputy in the office of State Auditor Joseph Ferguson at Columbus, in charge of the municipal division of the bureau of audit and inspection, told The News-Journal today that Zook had been instructed to continue his audit through the close of business yesterday.

He said he was prevented by statute from commenting on any findings of an examiner until the audit is completed.

Ports In Cincinnati.

Ports could not be reached today for a statement. He was reported to be out of town but was expected back tonight. At his residence, it was learned he had gone to Cincinnati.

Zook's audit was to have closed as of Nov. 19, 1938.

Chaperau 'Star' Witness Against Comedian Benny

NEW YORK—(INS)—The chief witness against Jack Benny, the radio comedian, when he is brought to trial on smuggling charges will be Albert Chaperau with whom he was jointly indicted last Tuesday and who pleaded guilty in a surprise move yesterday.

It was also learned the French jewelers who sold Benny the gems he is accused of turning over to Chaperau to bring to the United States have already appeared as secret witnesses before the federal grand jury in New York and may be summoned to testify if the case goes to trial.

The jewelers are also reported to have testified concerning trinkets sold George Burns, of the radio team of Burns and Allen, who pleaded guilty to similar smuggling charges.

Chaperau, it was learned today, has assured government investigators he is prepared to make a clean breast of his activities and if necessary testify against Benny.

HEAR GENERAL KILLED

MEXICO CITY—(UP)—An official announcement today said that Gen. Saturnino Cedillo, charged by the government with attempting an abortive revolt last year, had been killed.

4 Contracts For Simpson Building Let

Cleveland Firm to Erect New Junior High at Cost of $284,736.

Four contracts for construction of the John Simpson junior high school building and installation of heating, plumbing and electrical equipment in the building, totaling $370,189, were awarded last night by the Mansfield board of education.

All contracts were let on low bids, with the William C. Hawkins Construction company, Cleveland, receiving the contract for general construction work on its bid of $293,736 The board immediately slashed that figure to $284,736 by omitting certain alternate materials listed by the company which would cost $9,000.

Only one of the contracts went to a Mansfield firm, the E. F. Malone company receiving a contract for installing plumbing equipment on its bid of $23,043. The board also cut $3,619 from the Malone figure by eliminating proposals for more costly equipment.

Gets Heating Contract.

Heating and ventilating equipment will be installed by the W. N. Clarke company, New Castle, Pa., for $39,945, and the Ginn Electric company, Cincinnati, received the electric wiring contract on a bid of $25,984.

The total amount of the contracts is $11,073 less than the estimated cost of $381,162 for the building. That estimate, however, does not include equipment and architects' fees which are expected to boost the total to $450,000, same as for the Johnny Appleseed building.

Bids on construction of the John Simpson building, one of the two major units in the $1,000,000 school program, were submitted by 11 contractors, none from Mansfield.

The board considered five bids on electrical wiring and 19 on installation of heating and plumbing equipment.

The general construction contract includes demolishing of a small administration building west of the old John Simpson building at an estimated cost of $290. A former contract for razing the building was rescinded by the school board after PWA officials

WAITS FOR AX

Wierman Looks for Engineer Post to Be Abolished.

"I'm just waiting for the bad news," Boyd Wierman, Richland county resident engineer for the state highway department, said today as he studied a report that Col. Robert S. Beightler, new state highway director, would abolish the resident engineer jobs in 80 Ohio counties.

Wierman, a Democrat, who has held the engineer's post in Richland county for eight years, said he had received no orders to reduce his staff although Col. Beightler announced 1,000 highway workers would be laid off

"As a Democrat I naturally don't hold much hope of staying with my job in a Republican administration," Wierman asserted. He is the only one in the resident engineer's office who is not under civil service.

Wierman said he believed Col. Beightler would set up additional divisions in the state after abolishing the resident engineer posts.

KENNEDY PICKED

Ex-Secretary of State Appointed Regional Wage-Hour Director.

WASHINGTON—(UP)—Wage-hour administration officials said today that William J. Kennedy of Cleveland, who just retired as Ohio secretary of state, has been selected regional director for the wage-hour law in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky.

His appointment will be announced formally when congress makes a deficiency appropriation and Kennedy's name is approved by the civil service commission. Headquarters for the region will be in Cleveland.

DUCE FAILS TO SCORE IN TALK WITH PREMIER

TOAST SEEN AS HINT

Briton's Response Indicates Italy Should Negotiate Directly With France.

(By United Press)

ROME—Premier Benito Mussolini has failed to receive the satisfaction for which he hoped in his first talks with Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, it was reported today in diplomatic quarters.

It was asserted that at their first talk yesterday afternoon Mussolini raised a number of points regarding the Mediterranean situation generally and the Spanish civil war in particular, and failed to receive the encouragement he had hoped for.

2nd Talk Arranged.

It was because of this, informants said, that a second formal conference was arranged for today.

Some diplomats thought that Chamberlain spoke rather pointedly in his brief response to his host's toast at the state dinner last night.

"I have come here in pursuit of the policy for which I stand—a policy of friendship with all and enmity with none, a policy directed to the just and peaceful solution of international difficulties by the method of negotiation," Chamberlain said.

There was some tendency to believe that this was an open invitation to Mussolini to start negotiations direct with France in pursuit of any ambitions he might have, and to keep his policy "just and peaceful."

'Always Believed in Peace.'

Italy, Mussolini said, "has always believed in peace based on justice, which has been and is the final goal which the policy of Fascist Italy has aimed at and is aiming to achieve."

Incidentally Chamberlain sealed the agreement under which Britain recognized the conquest of Ethiopia when he pledged a toast to "His majesty, the King of Italy and Emperor of Ethiopia"

DEWEY BLOCKS MUSICA RELEASE

Orders Brothers Re-Arrested As They Provide Bonds.

NEW YORK—(AP)—A move by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey today blocked the road to freedom of two of the Musica brothers involved in the McKesson & Robbins drug company conspiracy case.

The third brother, George Vernard-Arthur Musica, remained in federal jail because he reportedly could not raise $5,000 bail.

Federal authorities released George Dietrich-Musica and Robert Dietrich-Musica yesterday after they provided bail of $5,000 and $3,500 respectively, but they promptly were re-arrested by District Attorney Dewey on charges of grand larceny.

Answers 'Red' Charges Today

Felix Frankfurter, law professor at Harvard university, was to appear personally before a senate committee conducting a hearing on his appointment by President Roosevelt to the United States Supreme court. His testimony was expected to answer charges that the law professor has "Communistic leanings."

Never a 'Dull Evening' At Prof. Frankfurter's Home

Groups of Harvard Students Gather at His Home for 'Bull Sessions'—He's Even a Heckler In Class.

(By Associated Press)

BOSTON—Felix Frankfurter, Harvard law professor, who testified today before a senate committee conducting a hearing into his appointment by President Roosevelt to the United States supreme court bench, is a little man with a big mind; one of the keenest minds in the nation, many think.

He has spotted for high posts in the federal government such bright young men as James M. Landis, Thomas Corcoran and Dean Acheson. But a friend says he has never asked a job favor in behalf of anyone—that he knows how to put the right man in the right job when called on.

'Bulls' With Students.

He and his wife, the former Marion A. Denman, of Springfield, Mass., have no children, but every week groups of his brightest students have gathered at their home to match wits with him in long "bull sessions."

Students either like him tremendously or heartily dislike him. In classes, he seems to be a student who happens to know a little more than the rest. Sometimes he turns the lecture over to a student, then stands in the back of the room and helps heckle.

A former student said of him: "He is always thinking. He finds it very difficult to relax. Many people like to spend a nice dull evening and no evening with Prof. Frankfurter is ever dull."

The new justice is an omnivorous reader. His walks with friends are his only exercise. He will take a cocktail, and he smokes moderately.

He aids hundreds of causes financially and is prodigal of his time in helping friends.

Two other justices who came from Harvard Law school have been his friends, the late Oliver Wendell Holmes, and Louis D. Brandeis. His views follow theirs in many respects.

DIES IN ELEVATOR PLUNGE

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Lewis L. Yarnell, 47, bank janitor, plunged 25 feet to his death in an elevator shaft today. Patrolman Orville Buleson said Yarnell apparently lost his balance when he leaned into the shaft and saw the cab several floors above.

Ruppert Fights Like His Baseball Stars.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Like one of his own baseball stars fighting against odds, Col. Jacob Ruppert today refused to concede that the game was over. Reported dying since Tuesday, the millionaire brewer and owner of the New York Yankees was "slightly improved" this morning and even had a little food.

WITHIN RIGHTS

Shaffer Says Ex-Director Had Authority to Suspend 4.

The hopes of four suspended state highway employes at Ashland to get their jobs back immediately faded today when Murray D. Shaffer of Mansfield, newly appointed highway engineer in Division No. 3, said that he believed former Highway Director Ivan R. Ault apparently acted within his jurisdiction in suspending the men.

Shaffer, who assumed his duties as engineer yesterday, said the men had not appealed to him.

Meanwhile, R. M. Greenlun, whose position as supervisor of highway markers in the Ashland district, was abolished by Ault, appealed directly to the state civil service commission in a move to be re-instated.

The suspensions and dismissal came after the employes testified against Ault, former engineer in the Ashland district, who was convicted of soliciting campagn funds from civil service workers.

FRANKFURTER APPEARS FOR QUIZ IN COURT

Reads Statement Declaring It 'Improper' to Express Views on High Tribunal.

ACCUSED OF 'RED LEANING'

Harvard Law Prof Decides to Testify Personally After Charges Are Hurled.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Felix Frankfurter, testifying on his nomination for the supreme court, said today he thought it would be "improper" to express his personal views on matters affecting the high bench.

The liberal Harvard law professor, nominated to succeed the late Justice Benjamin Cardozo, read a brief statement before a senate judiciary subcommittee.

Gives Court Views.

Saying he had "taken the liberty of putting on paper" his remarks, Frankfurter added:

"I of course do not wish to testify in support of my nomination."

Frankfurter said he considered it "improper" for a nominee to the court "to express his personal views on matters affecting the court."

The Harvard law professor accepted the group's second invitation to testify after having declined the first. He left his Massachusetts home last night.

Accompanied only by a secretary, he arrived quietly at the capital and stopped at the railroad station barber shop for a pre-breakfast shave. He told newsmen he expected to stay here no longer than today.

Denounces Witness.

Testimony before the committee yesterday brought a denunciation of one witness by Senator Borah (R., Ida.), who thundered his objections to discussion of Frankfurter's Jewish birth.

Chairman Neely (D., W. Va.) said at the close of yesterday's session that all persons had testified who had asked to oppose the appointment. These witnesses had contended that Frankfurter was linked directly with Communist, revolutionary and subversive groups.

JOBS MENACED

300 Tax Employes Face Loss of Sales Tax Posts.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Between 200 and 300 state tax commission employes will have to be discharged if the Republican economy appropriations bill is left intact, Frank W. Miller, state tax commission chairman, said today.

The tax commission requested $6.692 to operate for each half-month period but the request was trimmed to $45,625 by Republicans in the house and senate

"The sales tax division," Miller declared, "will be hit hardest"

He asked $34,000 for the sales tax division but was told he would receive only $25,000. However, Miller, a Democrat, did not seem especially worried.

"We will get along somehow," he said.

CRASH KILLS 3

Boy, 8, Fighting Death, Only Survivor of Accident.

CLEVELAND—(UP)—Ralph Neal, 8, the only survivor of a railroad crossing accident at West View village in which three were killed, was in critical condition in Berea hospital today.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Edna Neal, 46, his sister, Shirley Ann, 5, and John F. Kujawa, 38, of Olmsted township, were killed when a passenger train struck Kujawa's automobile at a Big Four grade crossing last night.

STUDY SCHOOL REMEDY REPORT

New State Government Withholds Comment on Plan to Halt Fund 'Earmarking.'

Without comment, leaders of Ohio's Republican government today studied a report for remedying the public schools' financial ills which was submitted to the legislature and Gov. John W. Bricker by a special citizens' committee of the Ohio Education association.

Harold W. Arlin, president of the Mansfield board of education and a member of the committee which set up the proposals, said the committee's major recommendation was for abolishment of the plan for "earmarking" taxes for schools, highways and other state departments.

The committee's report said: "Abolishment of the plan of definitely fixing funds would put an end to the chaotic method of making appropriations which keeps many government functions in financial starvation while surplusses accumulate in funds earmarked for other purposes."

Loren E Souers, Canton, is chairman of the citizens' committee. Arlin and R. B. Ackerman, Galion, are the only members from this section.

Opposing the enactment of any new taxes, the committee recommended.

1. Appropriation of $49,800,000 a year from the general fund for current operation of the school foundation program during 1939-40.

2. Increased economies and efficiency in the state tax commis-

NEW REARMING MESSAGE URGES SPEEDY ACTION

Roosevelt Proposes Increase of 3,000 Planes at Cost of $300,000,000.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt asked congress today for an immediate appropriation of $525,000,000 as the "minimum of requirements" for bulwarking the nation's defense against the "possibilities of present offense against us."

In a special message the president requested that the $525,000,000 be appropriated at once to be divided between the army and navy.

Calls For 3,000 Planes.

The fund would include $300,000,000 for a minimum increase of 3,000 in army plane strength.

He also asked for another $27,000,000 to provide an adequate "peace garrison for the Panama canal," of which $5,000,000 would be for immediate use to begin necessary housing construction.

The total request, all of which would not be spent in one year, would boost the new budget for defense to $1,661,558,000, the largest by far of any peace-time outlay.

"Devoid of all hysteria," the president said, "this program is but the minimum of requirements.

"I trust, therefore, that congress will quickly act on this emergency program for the strengthening of the defense of the United States."

Mr. Roosevelt said that after entry into the World war the United States "had more than a year of absolute peace at home without any threat of attack on this continent" to prepare its fighting forces.

Proposed As Safeguard.

"Calling attention to these facts," the president said, "does not remotely intimate that the congress or the president have any thought of taking part in another war on European soil, but it does show that in 1917 we were not ready to conduct large scale land or air operations.

"Relatively we are not much more ready to do so today than we were then—and we cannot guarantee a long period free from attack in which we could prepare."

Of the $525,000,000 the president asked that $450,000,000 be allocated for new needs of the army, $65,000,000 for similar requirements of the navy, and $10,000,000 for training civil air pilots.

SENT TO PRISON

Son Pleads Guilty to Slaying of Ohio Minister-Father.

CHILLICOTHE—(AP)—Robert Bready, 29, pleaded guilty to manslaughter today in the slaying of his father, Dr. Russell H. Bready, Bainbridge Methodist minister, and was sentenced to one to 20 years in Ohio penitentiary.

Dr. Bready was shot to death Dec. 2, and his body found next morning in a vacant lot. Robert, who lived with his father, said he recalled that Dr. Bready took him for a walk in an effort to sober him up but that he was hazy on what occurred afterward

The son, who had boasted that he "made a career of drinking," had a small pistol under his pillow when arrested at the parsonage.

Indicted Tuesday, Bready brought a quick end to the case today when he admitted his guilt.

Republicans Forget to Renew Lease On Headquarters, Now They're Out $550

School Board Rents Room Directly From Owners and Saves Money.

Richland county Republicans, who were so busy celebrating their victory in the November election that they forgot to renew the lease on their headquarters, were counting their loss at $550 today.

By the same oversight, the Mansfield school board was $250 to the good in its lease on the Warner Brothers building on North Main street for temporary classrooms for part of the John Simpson junior high pupils.

Things looked bright for the Republicans last month when they sub-leased their spacious headquarters in the Warner building to the school board for $100 a month for a year.

Then the picture changed. When Warner Brothers officials read a newspaper report of the lease, they reminded the Republicans that they no longer had a lease and therefore had no authority to collect rent for the building.

A quick check-up revealed that although party leaders had voted to renew their lease for two years, T. R. Barnes, executive committee treasurer, had not obtained the signature of theater officials on the lease.

The school board signed a new lease last night with the Warner Brothers for $75 a month, $25 less than the Republicans asked. The lease is until next Dec. 31.

So the Republicans are out $50 a month for a year—the rooms had cost them $50 in a former lease.

The school board paid the Republicans $50 for two weeks' rent on the building to avoid any possible complications. The payment cut the party's loss to $550.

Republicans still have a corner of the Warner building for headquarters which they rent for $25 a month.

—Advice—

Doesn't Want To Wed Yet

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I was orphaned at an early age, and now at 19 I have about enough money to take me through college. I am working hard to get my degree, and am also having a few good times on the side. I have become acquainted with one of the young men in my class who doesn't compare with any of the others, as he is far superior. He seems to be very fond of me, and I am of him. We have delightful times together, but lately he has begun to talk too seriously. I do not want to marry until I'm at least 23, and am trying not to fall in love too hard.

What is your advice in my case—I am not over-anxious to bind myself by engagement to this boy, who, although he is clever, is so very young. In most things he can be reasonable, but I can't seem to make him agree with my point of view.

AMBITIOUS.

You seem to have a very well-balanced and full life, and I think it would be qiute safe for you to put off marriage until you are 23. It would be better for the young man, too, and I hope you will be able to convince him of this. You might tell him you want him to have every opportunity to establish himself in a career without the burden of a wife on his hands.

He might see your point if you promise to stand by as a good pal. Tell him you value his friendship more than that of anyone else, but that you are only thinking of both your future happiness. When he sees that you really are going to stand firm, he will buckle down and study until he graduates and is on the road to success.

To water house plants set pots in a basin of water so that the water rises below. As soon as the soil is moist on the top, take the pots out of water as excess water may cause damping off disease.

Oxalic acid (poison) will remove stain left by an umbrella dripping on a hardwood floor. Wet cloth with the acid and allow cloth to remain on the spot until it disappears. Keep cloth wet.

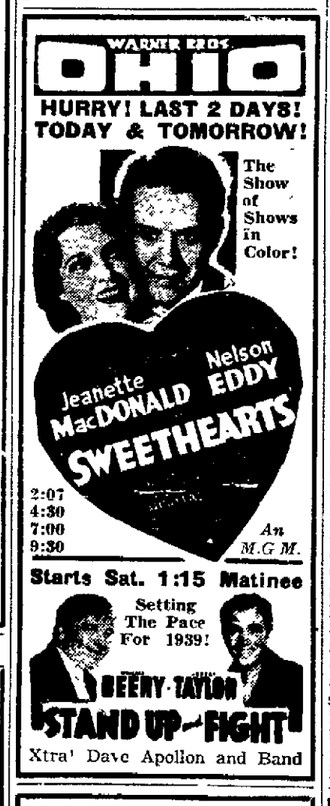
Send your order to The Mansfield News-Journal, Pattern Department, 232 W. 18th St., New York, N. Y.

Butterscotch or any fruit sauce served with rich vanilla ice cream makes a delicious dinner dessert. Serve in sherbet cups placed on small plates and on each plate lay a few colored candies.

Steamed squash is delicious. Try steaming squash and potatoes when you steam your pudding, putting vegetables and pudding, of course, in different compartments.



Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"No, no, dear!" I prevaricated stoutly. "I know nothing. But it's enough to make any woman afraid, isn't it, to hear her husband say he's in a jam, and that her faith and trust may be sorely tested? I'm afraid for you, that's all."

He drew a relieved sigh that seemed to come from the soles of his shoes.

"I'm glad that's all," he said. "For a minute I didn't know what crazy bee you'd gotten into your bonnet. Now I can assure you, that in all probability this whole affair is a mare's nest, and everything will be all right. It's the thousandth chance that it might not be all right that I'm guarding against."

To cover up my confused anxiety I stood on tiptoe and kissed him.

"I'm glad you're not worrying," I said. "And I'll try not to be silly myself. But I'll be on hand if you want me. You've no idea when, have you?"

"Yes, I have," he said surprisingly. "I want you not to be out of the city on"—naming a day—"the day before that, and the day after it."

"Of course, I can manage that," I said confidently. There's no reason why I should leave the city, except an emergency at home, and with Lillian, Harry and Katherine on the job, there isn't a chance in a million of my being needed. And as for Philip Veritzen, and his vagaries—"

"He can just go and fly a kite, can't he, sweetheart?" my husband asked with a sudden return to a whimsical cheerfulness.

"A dozen of them, if he likes," I assented, playing up.

"Then everything is set," Dicky declared, "and I can count on you being over at the Lansfield if I need you."

"You surely can," I told him. "But what about other days before and after that particular time? Do you want me to be at the hotel all the time from now on?"

"By no means," he answered promptly. "There was a time when I didn't know exactly when I might need you, but the situation has clarified since then, and I know that those dates are the—crucial ones, may I say?"

My mind went to the message he had repeated a few minutes before his friend, "Jim."

"She—did—that?" Dickey had said, and I had a sudden, queer conviction that the "situation had clarified" with "Jim's" message, whatever the rest of it had been.

"Then those dates are the ones I'll keep with you," I said purposely striving for lightness in my tones.

Have Kitchen Party

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

IF YOUR kitchen is large enough to warrant it, why not plan a kitchen party one of these evenings? It's a good idea when the buffet supper begins to pall or if you are looking for something different. And if the party includes several men, you'll find that your reputation as a hostess has gone a few points higher. For almost every man loves to fuss around a kitchen, especially when he doesn't have to do so out of dire necessity.

Plan a simple menu, to be served help-yourself-style in the kitchen. Cover the kitchen table with a checked cotton or linen cloth, bring in an extra table if there is room and clear off all available working surfaces. Arrange china, silver and food so that guests can help themselves. Something light, something refreshing, something tart, something cold and crisp, and hot drinks will make a hit. Platters of cold cuts, spreads, various sliced breads will enable folks to make their own sandwiches, something that most people enjoy doing.

What to Serve.

Big black olives, radish roses, celery curls and carrot sticks not only taste nice but look nice, too. Serve them in a huge bowl heaped high with crystal-clear cubes of ice. A tart tomato salad on a bed of green leaves is nice with cold meats. A Virginia ham, a cold tongue or tenderloin is sure to go well. For something handsome halve and hollow a pumpkin and pile the halves high with fresh fruits. This makes a nice centerpiece and dessert, too. Have plenty of cheeses on hand. Everyone is sure to find a favorite on a well-filled cheese plate. Place cheeses around the rim and fill the center with heaps of crackers.

Plenty of Coffee.

Have plenty of coffee, and if you want to serve something different, try a cider punch and serve the hot and the cold varieties. To make the hot cider punch you will need four quarts hot tea, 16 cups sweet cider, juice of five lemons, five sliced oranges, two and one-half cups brown sugar, three sticks cinnamon, one tablespoon each allspice and whole cloves, two pieces whole mace and one teaspoon salt. Mix lemon juice, sugar, cider, tea and seasoning. Boil mixture 15 minutes. Strain, add orange slices and serve hot. For the frozen cider punch take two quarts sweet cider, two tablespoons crystalized ginger (chopped in very fine pieces) and one teaspoon glycerine. Mix glycerine with chopped ginger. Heat cider to boiling point and let boil three minutes. Skim and strain through a very fine strainer or cheesecloth. Chill. Place in freezing compartment until it begins to freeze. Stir in ginger and return to freeze to a mush. Serve in tall punch glasses.

All the festivities and gay goings-on are leaving me limp, and even though I am enjoying myself, I'll be glad when it is all over. Then I can get back to normal hours and devote my time to my job, reserving Friday night and the week-end for parties.

Guido and his wife have scored a big success here and everyone is inviting them or planning something. Vittoria is really lovely and as sweet as she is pretty. She and Consuelo look lovely together, for they are both perfect and of such contrasting types Guido says he spends his time kicking himself for having been so foolish and obstinate. I guess because his mother made up her mind that he was to marry Vittoria, he just decided that he wouldn't and that he didn't like her. He confesed to me that to him she didn't even seem pretty. Vittoria says that she always felt that eventually Guido would care, and that is why she had refused so many eligibles.

They are having a glorious honeymoon. They plan to go to Florida, Nassau and Havana, then down to South America, coming back through Mexico, then to California. They plan to be away until May and then they will sail for home. Guido tells me that there is a chance that they may return next autumn to spend a year in Washington.

Vittoria is just fascinated by everything in this country. She spends hours peering in shop windows and wandering through stores. She brought magnificent clothes with her, and her gowns and accessories have interested the fashion writers and stylists. I had a few hours to spare, so, as a little gift, I whipped up a delightful negligee in sea green velvet and silver lace for her. She loves it and insisted on wearing it when a fashion magazine took pictures of her.

Vittoria wore this lovely gown, done in white and black moire and satin. The criss-cross halter bodice has a break at the bustline where a few gathers soften the line. The skirt is full and is gathered onto the brief bodice, which is pointed in front and straight in back.

Treatment For Facial Wrinkles

By MME. QUI VIVE

No woman worries about wrinkles until she gets them; then she worries and gets more. The thing to do is to take such good care of one's onliest face that the musculature remains strong, tissues firm and the accordion pleats won't arrive. In youth the face has substantial padding. The flesh is as solid as the flesh on the body. It can be kept that way, if life doesn't kick one around too much. Anxieties, care, neglect of the health take their toll.

If wrinkles have already settled on your portrait, think a bit about the causes. Do everything possible to keep in good physical and mental condition. Keep cheerful.

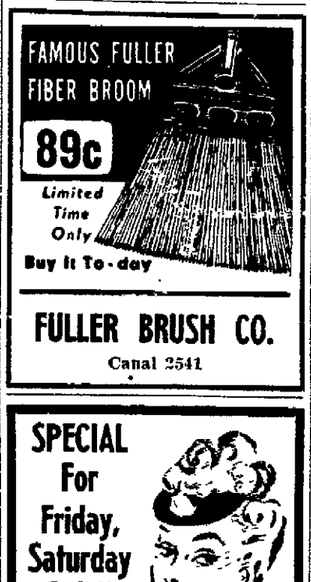
Every night, rain or shine, willnilly, give your face and neck a thorough washing with pure soap and warm water. Friction until the flesh glows, rinse with warm water, dry gently. You are going to give your face a good buttering and if the flesh is warm the treatment will be doubly effective.

Purchase a jar of massage cream, one so heavy that the fingers won't slip when applying it. Spread it on evenly with flattened fingers.

Stroke the neck firmly, up and down. Stroke from chin to temples; that's to harden the flesh on the jaws that take on a sag as tissues weaken. Place one finger on the eyelid close to the sweep, then sweep out to the temple, come back underneath; that's to banish turkey tracks.

Treat frown lines with a crosswise movement, then with a thumb at one end, finger at the other, iron upward with the thumb. To do away with parenthesis lines running from nostrils to lip ends, begin at the bottom of the line with a neat, crisp little pinching, motion, go skipping upward.

Finish with a brisk hammering and slapping. By following the foregoing directions you cannot possibly do any harm. While the cream is on, frisk an ice cube over your celestial countenance.



BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

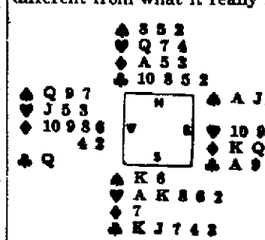
"The Authority on Authorities"

WHEN YOU SEEM SUNK

YOUR CONTRACT APPEARS doomed to certain defeat. The opening lead shows you beyond peradventure of a doubt that the defenders have picked the one line of play which may sink you. Do you raise up a white flag of surrender? Or do you try to steer them away from their devastating plan by means of a false-card which makes the situation appear different from what it really is?



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable).

Here was one of those rare cases in which a skilled cardsman played against two fair-to-middling opponents although the only partner available for him was a youngster having his very first fling at the game. The experienced player, sitting South, made the bizarre original bid of 4-Hearts, which could be justified only by a combination of his fear regarding what North might do and the probability that there might be a game in the cards for him.

When West opened the club Q against this, South could tell by his own holding that it was a singleton. After East played the A, South promptly plumped on the K. East studied plenty, then decided his partner had led from five to the Q-J. So he shifted to the diamond K. The declarer then dropped the outstanding trumps, led toward the spade K and so made an overtrick.

Had South not false-carded, East would have returned the suit, he said later. West would have ruffed, then would have led a spade to the A and would have received a second club ruff, setting the contract.

THEATERS

WHETHER you regard the "March of Time" films as propaganda or not—and many persons do, they are thrilling entertainment in the screen world. The films are produced by the editors and publishers of "Life" and "Time" magazines. One of their most recent issues—which will be shown in Mansfield Sunday—is "The Refugee" and depicts the lot of the refugees from war and political chaos in Europe today. It shows the lot of millions left homeless by the wars in China and Spain and the persecution of the Jews in Germany. While none of the pictures were taken in Germany, the horrors of the German concentration camps for anti-Nazis are depicted, and the tragic problems of these homeless people are explained.

Began as Reporter.

Nelson Eddy, who plays his first modern role, that of a Broadway star whose domestic life is constantly submerged by his professional duties, began his professional career, not as a singer but as a reporter on the Philadelphia Press. On the other hand Frank Morgan, of the nervous eyebrows, who also plays a role in "Sweethearts," began his career as a singer, in a New York church. Together they provide music and comedy for the picture which has Jeanette MacDonald as its feminine star. "Sweethearts" runs through Friday at the Ohio.

Speed Classic.

With that greatest of all auto speed classics, the Memorial day 500-mile race at Indianapolis, as its thrilling climax, "Burn 'em Up O'Connor" is a suspense-packed film especially for those movie fans who like action and plenty of it. Dennis O'Keefe and Cecilia Parker carry the romantic theme against the background of speed. It's one of the two features at the Madison for the last half of the week, with "Ride a Crooked Mile," with Akim Tamiroff as a second attraction.

Ambulance Chaser.

A smart young lawyer, embittered by the fact that he can't get a start honestly in his profession, turns ambulance chaser and gets rich in "The Chaser," Ritz attraction for Friday and Saturday. Manufactured accidents pay big dividends until a very pretty girl supposedly is hurt. Dennis O'Keefe plays the chaser and Ann Morriss the girl. Bob Steele in "Durango Valley Raiders" rounds out the bill.

* * *

Aviation Theme.

An aviation theme in which miraculous developments in the future are predicted, including a death ray which will melt a metal explosive shell in mid-air, provides excitement in "Flight to Fame," which brings Charles Farrell and Jacqueline Wells to the Park theater during the last half of the week. Adrienne Ames and Craig Reynolds are starred in "Slander House," in which the action takes place in a swanky beauty parlor.

Love In a Garret.

Robert Montgomery as a penniless artist, and Rosalind Russell as a wealthy society girl who marries him, find life a gay adventure while living in a garret, but when success comes unexpectedly it plays havoc with their romance. In "Live, Love and Learn," the two stars are supported by Robert Benchley, Helen Vinson, Monty Woolley and Mickey Rooney. The Majestic is showing this story of Greenwich Village along with a Charles Starrett western.

Slip covers should harmonize with the other room furnishings by repeating colors that have already been used. Warm colors such as red, brown, orange or yellow should predominate in north rooms, while cool colors such as blue, green and purple should predominate in south and west rooms.

FRED HUTCHINSON sings "Ah." The Seattle pitcher, most-sought-after rookie of the year, was bought by Detroit for $50,000 and four players. Here the medicos are giving Hutch the once-over. Papa Hutchinson peers happily from behind Fred's shoulder.

HANK shows Big Bertha to Mom. Greenberg, Detroit's home-run champion first-baseman, had this bat autographed by major-league stars and fashioned into a smoking stand. He may be the game's highest-salaried player—if he gets the $40,000 he wants.

AL SIMMONS sheds weight the hot way—in the steam baths. The veteran hard-hitting outfielder, who has hopped about the American league from Philadelphia to Chicago to Detroit to Washington, was sold to the Boston Bees.

AN APPENDECTOMY ruined the Giants' hopes for 1938—Infielder Whitehead was out for the season. Recently, George Myatt (above, center), the rookie third-baseman counted on for 1939, was operated on. Bill Terry has been assured Myatt will be "as good as new."

Ontario Sohioans Face Mt. Vernon Saturday.

The Ontario Sohioans will meet the Shellmar Products of Mt. Vernon in the headline cage tussle at Ontario high Saturday night. The Mt. Vernon club has lost only one game out of nine this season, and its lineup includes such former outstanding high school stars as Jack Beck, Nick Roberts and Myron Matheny. Bob Beckwith and Ralph Litscomb, ex-college aces, are also in the lineup.

The Ontario Ex-Hys will engage the Rex Billiards, undefeated Mansfield Senior A league leaders, in the preliminary game.

RAMBLERS PASS BARONS IN TIGHT HOCKEY RACE

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — The Philadelphia Ramblers went out in front in the International-American Hockey league today as the result of a 3 to 1 victory over their closest rivals, the Cleveland Barons.

The Ramblers previously had lost three to the Barons, and were out for blood. Bill Karse put Philadelphia in the lead at 12.14 of the first period, and Babe Tapin made it 2 to 0 at 7:04 in the third. The Barons got back in the battle a couple of minutes later when Earl Bartholome slammed the disc into the net, but Lude Waring sewed it up with the third Rambler goal.

EAST MANSFIELD TEAMS WIN ON HOME HARDWOOD

The East Mansfield 7th-8th grade team defeated the Friendly House Bulldogs, 20 to 13, on the winners' court yesterday. The East Mansfield Wildcats trimmed the Lincoln Heights 5th-6th grade team, 16 to 3, in another game on the same court. The East Mansfield teams tangle with the Lincoln Heights quintets at East Mansfield Tuesday evening.

BUCKS IN HEATED DRILL FOR NORTHWESTERN FIVE

Butler to Try Comeback Against Madison

Faces Leader Friday

Bulldogs Can Gain Tie for County League Lead by Trimming Rams.

VICTIM of the major upset of the Richland county league season last week, Coach Bob Burgett's Butler high basketball contingent completed preparations on the practice court today for a tussle that will have an important bearing on the title.

Butler's seven-game winning streak was snapped by Ontario in the last game, and Friday the Bulldogs engage the Madison forces on the Butler court.

If the Bulldogs can make amends by upsetting the Rams, they will return to a tie with Madison for first place in the heated county league race. Butler now trails Madison by one game.

This is the headline game on this week's county schedule, but a couple of other important tilts are on the card.

Ontario, which appears to have found its stride after a slow start, is host to Lucas Friday, while Bellville goes to Lexington. Ontario and Lucas are now involved in a battle for the position behind those held by Madison and Butler.

The winner of the tussle at Ontario will not only enhance its chances of finishing the season in third place, but of figuring in the title race.

Plymouth and Shiloh, the county's representatives in the Twin-Valley league, will also be in action Friday night. Plymouth entertains New Haven, while Shiloh goes to Greenwich.

Plymouth is the only undefeated team in the county at this writing, and seeks its eighth straight triumph Friday.

Weakened Ashland Five Faces Galion.

ASHLAND, which dropped two games in a row after winning four straight, will attempt to protect its N. C. O. conference lead on the home floor against Galion Friday.

Although Galion has not won a conference game to date, Ashland may run into considerable trouble without Phil Smith, the A's scoring ace, who sustained a shoulder injury in the Mansfield game this week.

Marion, which is tied with Bucyrus for second place, is host to Shelby Friday, while the Redmen go to Mt. Vernon.

They Do Come Back, Mister!

Jockey Don Meade Proves It at Hialeah.

MIAMI—(U.P.)—Who said they never come back!

Almost three years ago—March 3, 1936—Jockey Don Meade scored a "triple" at Hialeah park. The next day he was ruled off the turf indefinitely for betting on horses other than his own in races in which he was riding.

Reinstated several weeks ago, he appeared at the Hialeah park opening in silks yesterday for the first time at this track since he was suspended.

In the first race, the 25-year-old rider, once the kingpin of American jockeys, won on Number 13—Ranco's Girl.

Then he took the $5,000-added inaugural race, the fifth, with a rank outsider, Early Delivery, a 19-to-1 shot. He took the lead at the first quarter pole and rode to a nose victory, a triumph made possible more by Meade's skill than the horse's class.

He rounded out his "triple" by winning the eighth race on an article named Jinx. And as Jinx came hammering down the home-stretch, the crowd rose cheering for Meade's performance.

NOW IF JOHNNY CAN ONLY WIN 20 GAMES

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Johnny Allen, pitching star of the Cleveland Indians, today planned to leave for his home in St. Petersburg, Fla., shortly after the cast is removed from his hurling arm tomorrow.

Allen last week underwent an operation for the removal of a bone chip in his elbow, and believes that as a result of the operation he will win between 18 and 25 games. His arm went bad in midseason last year.

WESLEYAN FROSH STARS REPORTED ENROLLED AT T. U.; OHIOANS HOLD OWN.

By OSCAR RUHL,
News-Journal Sports Editor.

NOEL MORGAN, Bud Mercer and Eddie Lore, three of the best cagers turned out by high schools in this section of Ohio, have quit Ohio Wesleyan for Toledo U, according to reports. They're freshmen. . . . The kind of basketball being played by Ohio colleges has fared well in sectional competition. Glenville, W. Va., Teachers had their 40-game winning streak halted by Toledo this week. Then Akron take the tourists into camp the very next night. . . . They're saying that Red Barber of Cincinnati will take over one of the three baseball broadcasting jobs in New York next Summer. Tom Manning, another Ohio red-head, is also slated to go to the Gotham, according to reports. . . . There's just a hint of gray in the black curls over Max Baer's temple, although he's on this side of 30. . . . The St. Louis Browns report a deficit of $75,000 for 1938. . . . Wonder what the sportsmen think of Gov. Bricker's move of firing Larry Wooddell, the most popular man to hold the conservation job. . . . Davey O'Brien's not interested in pro football. The T. C. U. aerial star plans to continue his studies in geology. . . . Already 10 times world's champion and three times Olympic champion, graceful Sonja Henie is adding to her conquests by captivating capacity audiences of her Hollywood ice revue in Cleveland this week. The production leaves little to be desired; Sonja even less. The little star appears five times in all, skating in everything from the Liebestraum, with music by Liszt, to her own version of the Lambeth Walk, with hot music from Hollywood.

Herr Maxie Reported In Trouble With Nazis.

LONDON — (INS — Max Schmeling, former heavyweight boxing champion of the world, is reported in trouble with Nazi authorities in Germany, the Daily Herald, Laborite newspaper, said Monday in an undated story.

On Monday, said the paper, Schmeling visited the propaganda ministry, where he was questioned for some time. He left with a Nazi official and visited several other offices of the Nazi party, at each of which he was believed to have been interrogated, according to the story.

The Oslo Aftenposten was quoted as stating Schmeling's wife, Anny, had been arrested for an alleged breach of German currency regulations, but the Herald said Berlin inquiries proved this report to be untrue.

Seeks Armstrong For Showing Here.

TIM NOLAN, Quality club impressario, is thinking very seriously of bringing Henry Armstrong, the multiple ring champion, to the Armory for an exhibition. But Armstrong's demands may be too steep, Nolan fears. He's checking, nevertheless. . . . Henry Cotton, England's champion of the links, will come to this country to strut his stuff. . . . And we wonder if it's true that the Vines-Budge tennis tour is being handled by the eastern wrestling barons, Toots Mondt, Ray Fabiani and Lou Daro. . . . Phil Scott should feel at home now that he has turned wrestler in his native England. Scott spent so much time on the canvas as a boxer in this country that they called him "Horizontal Phil" . . . Tippy Dye—remember him?— is now selling insurance in Cincinnati. On the side, he officiates at basketball games. . . . Toledo Central's defeat this week leaves New Philadelphia with the longest winning streak in state scholastic circles. The New Phillies, who have won eight in a row, are next on the list for the Tygers. Jan. 20 is the date in New Philly. . . . Champion is a champion alright. That's the name of the Ohio Class B school which has won 12 straight tilts. . . .

Cleveland May Step Into National League.

CLEVELAND may get into the major league in hockey next season. Reports are that the National league will go bankrupt if the membership is not increased to eight teams. So moguls of that league have their eyes on Cleveland, where the attendance is of major league caliber. . . . Newspapermen are siding with Buck Newsom in his fight for a $20,000 contract. They say if a 20-game winner with a tailend club isn't worth $20,000, then every pitcher in baseball is being overpaid.

MAAG, BARTSCHY NAMED PAGE BOYS IN SENATE

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Two of Ohio State university's better football players will become adept in walking during the next few weeks, it developed today.

Center Charlie Maag and end Sam Bartschy received notification of their appointments as page boys in the Ohio senate. For their work, on a half-time basis, the boys will receive $1.50 a day.

13th Annual Relays Set For April 22

Mehock Predicts Bigger Affair Next Spring.

An athletic show bigger and better than ever was predicted today by Harry E. Mehock as he announced the date for the 13th annual Mansfield high school Relays.

Mehock, who is director and founder of the gigantic track and field carnival, announced that the event will be held at Stadium field on Saturday, April 22, this year.

While it is too early to venture a guess as to the number of schools to compete next spring, Mehock indicated that a new entry record might be established.

Mehock said that he has already received a number of letters from coaches seeking information about the meet which attracted more than 1,000 athletes last year.

Out-of-state schools which have indicated that they will send teams to Mansfield in April are Eastwood high of Syracuse, N. Y., and Nott Terrace of Schenectady, N. Y. The Schenectady school competed last year.

Track teams of Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky as well as Ohio will again be permitted to enter this year, Mehock stated.

Central high school of Cleveland won the championship last year in the most successful carnival ever staged.

Tankmen Prep For Sandusky

Tygers Face Strong Streak Team Here Saturday.

Beaten by Canton McKinley in their last appearance, the Mansfield high school mermen will engage the Sandusky swimming team in a dual meet in the Tygers' pool at 2:30 p. m. Saturday.

The Tygers made a splendid showing against the strong Canton club, and Coach Harold Burns indicated that he was pleased with their development. However, he refuses to comment on the victory possibilities against the Blue Streaks, who again are rated with the state high school leaders.

Inexperience appears to be the Mansfield team's chief handicap, but it has shown gradual improvement. Burns has been particularly pleased with the showing of Burton Preston, who won the only individual first against Canton last week in the 100-yard breast stroke event.

The only other first registered by the Tygers was recorded by the 200-yard relay team, consisting of Betz, Smart, McCartney and Walker.

CINCINNATI TO HOLD TWO CAGE TOURNEYS

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Cincinnati high school won an argument today and the privilege of holding two district high school basketball tournaments next March.

Faculty managers of the southwestern Ohio high school district meeting at Dayton, ended a bitter controversy over selection of 1939 tourney sites at midnight. They awarded the Class A meets to Dayton and Cincinnati and the Class B meets to Dayton, Cincinnati and Springfield. Left without a tournament last year, the Queen City representatives protested strenuously last fall when consideration of this year's sites began.

Ruppert, Believed Dying, Asks If His Team Will Win

NEW YORK—(AP)—It was a glum gathering in the office of Secretary Ed Barrow of the Yankees. Every now and then another caller came in quietly, removed his hat and asked: "Anything new on the Colonel?"

To each Barrow gave the same answer: "No, nothing new. He's still alive."

Everyone knew that Col. Jacob Ruppert, multi-millionaire owner of the Yankees, was making a hard fight for his life in his home on Fifth avenue. It wasn't known whether he would live another hour or another day, but there was no hope that he would make a complete recovery.

"I was up to see him," said Barrow, "and the last thing he said to me was: 'Will the Yankees win another pennant this year, Ed?' I told him I would guarantee it."

Simpson Rips Wooster for Seventh Win

Shiplet Leads Scoring in 32 to 16 Victory.

Coach Bob DeHaven's once-defeated Simpson junior high courtiers rang up a 32 to 16 victory over Wooster junior high on the Wooster planks last night. It was Simpson's seventh win.

Shiplet, who scored 10 points, led the way for the Bulldogs, whose only defeat this season was suffered in a game with the Mansfield high reserves, 15 to 14.

Simpson never trailed after jumping into a 4 to 2 lead in the first period. The Bulldogs quickened their scoring pace in the second quarter to hold a 15 to 6 advantage at the half.

The Mansfield cagers continued their heavy scoring in the third frame to run their advantage to 25 to 12, and coasted in the final period.

DeHaven used two complete teams in the victory, with every player scoring at least one point except three.

"Why, he looks like he would be able to play ball right now," a hospital attendant said.

CINCINNATI SELECTED FOR 1939 MINOR MEETING

DURHAM, N. C.—(AP)—The National Association of (minor) Professional Baseball Leagues will hold its annual convention, marking the 100th anniversary of baseball, at Cincinnati, home of the game's first professional team.

William G. Bramham, president of the organization, announced today that the convention will be held Dec. 4-6, immediately preceding the major league gathering at Cincinnati Dec. 7-9.

Bishop Sophs

Sophomores are playing a big part in Ohio Wesleyan's early season successes on the basketball court. Here are a few of the new men. Jack Buttermore, Massillon, all-Ohio forward in high school a few years ago, is the pivot player. Others herewith are Dick Hartman, Findlay forward; Ed Barodoy, Geneva, N. Y., guard, and Chuck Weigand, Columbus center.

Senior Loop Clubs Return to Action

A three-game basketball program which promises plenty of action is on schedule for followers of play in the Senior A league at the Friendly House tonight.

The first game at 6:45 p. m. will send Augustine's Canfield Oils against the Musille Cigars. The Rex Billiards face the Miller Dairys in the middle game, and the Blue Goose Sohioans tackle Raemelton Farm in the final tiff.

The Billiards, who are undefeated this season, seek their seventh straight triumph tonight. The Rex team won the title last season.

RESULTS of last night's games in the Class A Church league at the Y. M. C. A. ran pretty much true to form last night.

The first place First Lutherans tripped Central M. E., 22 to 16, and First M. E., and Mayflower Congregational, tied for second place, also turned in victories.

The Lutherans were given a scare for a half, but the league leaders showed their mettle by practically doubling the score on the Methodists in the final periods. The Lutherans were behind by a 6 to 3 count at the half.

Fogle tallied 14 points to lead First M. E. to a 23 to 11 victory over Episcopal. The Methodists failed to score in the second period, but held, a 6 to 3 advantage at the intermission. They tallied more than half of their total in the fourth period while limiting their foe to a basket.

Mayflower added to its lead in each period after the opening quarter as it trimmed St. John's Evangelical, 24 to 17. The victors were in front by a 10 to 8 margin at the half.

Scoring half of his team's points Rush paced the Park Avenue Baptists to a 20 to 14 decision over Temple Emanuel in the other game. The Baptists held a 11 to 9 edge at the halfway mark.

Nolan to Introduce 'Donkey Wrestling' Friday

SOMETHING new in wrestling, stunts will be offered followers of the mat sport in the Armory Friday night when the Quality Athletic club stages a donkey match.

The donkeys will not actually wrestle, of course. They will have jockeys, who, in this case, will be Prospector Pete and Lon Chaney.

The idea of the match is for the principals to knock each other off their mounts. Once knocked off, remounting is permissible. Promoter Tim Nolan explained. But if the kayoed grappler has to take more than one step to remount, it will be called a fall.

The first wrestler to knock his opponent from astride his donkey twice will be called the winner.

This stunt will open a three-match program. In the main event, the Great Mephisto, former world's light-heavyweight champion, will meet Whitey Wahlberg. The winner will be rewarded with a match with the present champion, Billy Weidner, at the Armory next week.

Cliff Forsythe Sets Scoring Pace at Meder Alleys With 624 Total.

Cliff Forsythe accounted for the only 600 total, a 624, and he and his partner, Sonny Meder, led the team scoring with a 1175 count, which was good for two wins over the Heilman-Funston duo.

The only other 600 at the alleys last night was shot by "Skeets" Wolf, who blasted out a 606 as he led the Tire Room to three victories over the Service Store in a postponed Mansfield Tire league match.

Lewis Too Hot-Headed, But He'll Beat Louis, Says Gus

Challenger's Pilot Promises Champion Will Get All He Can Handle Jan. 25.

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK—(AP)—Large Gus Greenlee, the Pittsburgh citizen who manages the affairs of John Henry Lewis, the fighter, dropped in to warn your correspondent not to be too sure that John Henry will get his ears batted down by Joe Louis, the champion, when they meet in their 15-rounder at the garden on Jan. 25.

"There's a lot of fellows making a mistake about this fight," said Greenlee, confidentially, as he sat down and overflowed the largest chair in the room. "How do you feel about it? Do you think my boy's going to get licked easy?"

No Convictions.

Your correspondent told him that, since picking Ellsworth Vines to beat Donald Budge in tennis the other night, he had decided to do a lot less predicting in all branches of sport, hence had no real convictions in the matter.

"Well, then, I'll tell you something about it," said Gus. "This is gonna be a real fight and my boy, John Henry, ain't gonna run any from Joe Louis. John Henry thinks he's got a 50-50 chance of winning the championship, and that's all we want—just a 50-50 chance.

"John Henry's weight for this fight will be about 185 pounds. At that weight he hits hard enough to hurt any fighter living, and he's the best boxer in the ring today above the middleweight division. I'm not just talking. That's something everybody knows.

"I'll tell you another thing. Out in San Francisco where they've seen John Henry fight the most they think he's a cinch to whip Joe Louis and win the heavyweight championship. Those folks out there know fighters, too.

"John Henry is only 24, almost exactly the same age as Joe. He had seven or eight good fights last year while Joe was fighting only one big big fight, against Schmeling. A man can't fight one round a year and stay at his best. There's this much: if we catch Joe the way he was the night he fought Tommy Farr we'll punch his head right off.

Just Fights Back.

"There's only one thing I'm a little afraid of. My boy is too hot-headed. When he gets tagged he doesn't know anything except to fight back.

"I would rather he would be a little more cautious against Louis, but I know he won't. He would rather get knocked out than run away from Joe like Bob Pastor did. I promise you it will be a fight."

PITT STAR SLATED TO JOIN YANK ELEVEN

PITTSBURGH — (U.P.) — The American Professional Football league, inactive during 1938, will function again this fall. Representatives of six cities held a reorganization meeting yesterday and another will be held Feb. 5 in New York.

Jack McBride, head of the New York Yankee club in the league, predicted that Marshall Goldberg, Pittsburgh's all America fullback, would play for the Yankees this season. Although drafted by the Chicago Cardinals in the National Professional League, Goldberg reportedly turned down their $4,000 offer.

BRONCHIAL ASTHMA

Just a Few Sips and— Like a Flash — Relief!

Spend a few cents today at any drug store for a bottle of BUCKLEY'S MIXTURE (triple acting)—by far the largest selling cough medicine in all of cold Canada. Take a couple doses at bedtime and enjoy a good night's rest. One little sip and the ordinary cough is "on its way." Continue for two or three days and you'll hear little more from that tough old hang-on cough that nothing seems to help—if not joyfully satisfied—money back.

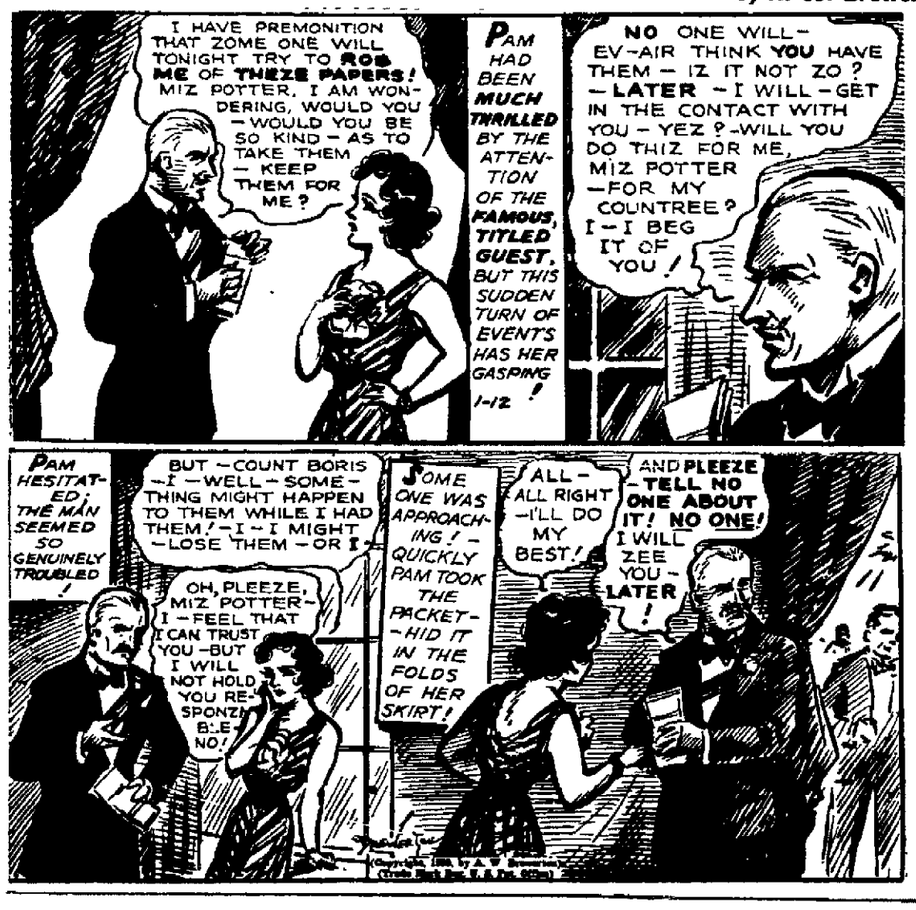
PAM—A Premonition! By A. W. Brewerton



I HAVE PREMONITION THAT SOME ONE WILL TONIGHT TRY TO ROB ME OF THESE PAPERS! MIZ POTTER, I AM WONDERING, WOULD YOU —WOULD YOU BE SO KIND — AS TO TAKE THEM — KEEP THEM FOR ME?
PAM HAD BEEN MUCH THRILLED BY THE ATTENTION OF THE FAMOUS, TITLED GUEST, BUT THIS SUDDEN TURN OF EVENTS HAS HER GASPING! 1-12
NO ONE WILL— EV-AIR THINK YOU HAVE THEM — IZ IT NOT ZO? —LATER —I WILL—GET IN THE CONTACT WITH YOU — YEZ?—WILL YOU DO THIZ FOR ME, MIZ POTTER —FOR MY COUNTREE? I—I BEG IT OF YOU!
PAM HESITATED; THE MAN SEEMED SO GENUINELY TROUBLED!
BUT —COUNT BORIS —I —WELL — SOME — THING MIGHT HAPPEN TO THEM WHILE I HAD THEM! —I — I MIGHT —LOSE THEM — OR I —
OH, PLEEZE, MIZ POTTER— I — FEEL THAT I CAN TRUST YOU —BUT I WILL NOT HOLD YOU RESPONZI BLE NO!
SOME ONE WAS APPROACHING! — QUICKLY PAM TOOK THE PACKET— —HID IT IN THE FOLDS OF HER SKIRT!
ALL— ALL RIGHT —I'LL DO MY BEST!
AND PLEEZE —TELL NO ONE ABOUT IT! NO ONE! I WILL ZEE YOU— LATER!

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—A Wandering Minstrel, Eh? By Harold Gray

AH, MY FRIEND! YOU SHALL HAVE A GREAT REWARD FOR COMING TO OUR AID— WE MUST HAVE CLOTHES, SHELTER, FOOD — AND I MUST USE THE TELEGRAPH—
EH? OH— YEAH! HA! HA! HA! THAT'S A GOOD ONE!
1-12-39
DIDJA HEAR THAT, BOYS? THIS GUY'S A COMEDIAN! I'VE SEEN GUYS LOSE AT STRIP POKER, BUT NEVER NO BIRDS AS WOULD TRUST A BUM HAND THAT FUR— YOU'RE DURN NEAR NAKED—
SIR, WE DID NOT LOSE AT CARDS — WE WERE CRUELLY BEATEN AND ROBBED BY TRAMPS AND THROWN FROM A SPEEDING TRAIN —
SURE! SURE! YOU BUMS ARE FOR EVER FIGHTIN—
BUMS! BUMS? BUT WE ARE NOT BUMS! WE ARE GENTLEMEN WHO HAVE BEEN SET UPON AND ROBBED—
Hmm? Hmm! IN A BOX CAR, EH? WHAT WERE YUH DOIN' IN A BOX CAR, "GENTLEMEN"?

THE NEBBS—How Long Will This Last? By Bel Hoss

I FEEL SO MISERABLE. WILL YOU ORDER SOME BREAKFAST FOR ME AND LEAVE ME ALONE?
I HAVEN'T FELT GOOD FOR A LONG TIME AND WITH YOU BEING MAD AT ME, I'M ON THE VERGE OF A MENTAL COLLAPSE. GO AHEAD DOWN STAIRS. YOU DON'T LOVE ME. YOU JUST PESTER ME. I CRAVE LOVE SECURE THAN THAT'S MORE YOURS!
OH, FORGIVE ME, ANGEL BOY, MY LOVE IS SECURE. IT'S BECAUSE I LOVE YOU SO MUCH I GET JEALOUS. NOW LIE DOWN AND TAKE A GOOD REST
JEALOUSY AIN'T LOVE. IT'S DISTRUST

TAILSPIN TOMMY—Skeeter Makes a Prophecy! By Hal Forrest

AS THE CRIPPLED AMPHIBIAN, CONTAINING OUR FRIENDS, AND THEIR PRISONER, PETRO, THE PIRATE FLYER, REACHES THE EDGE OF THE BEACH AT SKELETON KEY, IT RISES ON ITS FAT WHEELS AND WADDLES AWKARDLY UP THE SLOPING SAND!
THE RAIN IS NOW COMING DOWN HARDER AND THE WIND BLOWING MUCH HARDER, AS HANK EXCLAIMS
A WAVE HIT THE RIGHT WING AND TORE AWAY A STRUT!

I'LL SAY YOU WON'T!

LI'L ABNER—Friends in Need (Of Money). By Al Capp

MY SON, THE "EVERYTHING GOES" ATHLETIC CLUB OF WHICH YOU ARE A MEMBER HAS SENT THIS URCHIN FOR YOU.
DE BOYS SAYS COME. QUICK. YOU'VE BEEN PICKED!
THASS FINE. BUT AH WONDERS WHUFFO?
THE "EVERYTHING GOES" ATHLETIC CLUB
Y-YES, BOYS- I'LL EXPLAIN THAT ACCIDENT INSURANCE AGAIN! IF ONE LEG IS BROKEN MY COMPANY PAYS $500- FOR TWO LEGS- $1000- ONE LEG AND ONE ARM- $1500- BOTH LEGS AND BOTH ARMS- $2000!
HOW MUCH FOR BOTH LEGS AN' BOTH ARMS AN' MAYBE ONE EYE?
THAT WOULD COME TO $2000! IF IN ADDITION THE SPINE IS INJURED, WE'D PAY $7500!
NOW EXPLAIN ABOUT THE "BENNY-FISH-EE-ARY" AGAIN!
THE "BENEFICIARY" IS THE PARTY WHO RECEIVES THE MONEY. IT DOESN'T MATTER IF IT'S THE ONE WHO'S BEEN INJURED, OR A FRIEND-OR FRIENDS---
WE'RE ALL FRIENDS OF THE ONE WHO'S GONNA BE INSURED.
HE OUGHTA BE HERE ANY MINUTE NOW!

Chuckle Corner

Don't complain. Things might be worse. Think of the tragedy if some prominent millinery designer should suddenly become inspired while gazing at the Empire State building.

The New York world's fair slogan is "Dawn of a New Day." It may be dawn to the east, but to San Francisco it's just a yawn.

Traffic stories have been crowded off Page One again, but we can expect another renewal of activity Memorial day.

With the house chamber of congress wired for sound, many of the representatives will probably have to accept the alternative of going to bed early.

BUSINESS NEWS CHEERS MARKET, LIST RALLIES

Minor Spurt Interrupts New Year Dip at Opening; Traders Watch Rome.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—A minor rally interrupted the stock market's new year fall today.

Trending higher were U. S. Steel, Douglas Aircraft, American Can, Bethlehem, U. S. Rubber, United Aircraft, Santa Fe, Kennecott, Union Carbide, Westinghouse, Montgomery Ward and Dunhill International. Bonds and major commodities continued to follow a narrow path.

Many traders remained aloof from the dealings awaiting developments from the Chamberlain-Mussolini talks in Rome and for President Roosevelt's expected armament message.

A recent spurt in rail equipment buying—beneficial to the lagging heavy industries—was emphasized by reports the Southern Pacific was inquiring for 40 steam locomotives and the Union Pacific for 15.

Improvement in the heavy industries, notably steel production and engineering construction, was said to have expanded freight traffic for the carriers since Jan. 1.

Also casting light on the uptrend in the Capital Goods industries was the latest government report on ship construction, showing tonnage on the books of shipyards at the start of the new year was more than twice the total at the outset of 1938.

COLLECTION TO CLOSE SATURDAY

East Side Water and Sewer Rental Bills Unpaid.

With more than 50 per cent of the 10,000 water and sewer rental bills still outstanding, the water department will close its east side collections Saturday with approximately $15,000 of the $39,000 billing paid, Fred A. Lingafelter, secretary of the water, sewer and garbage department said today.

Lingafelter said that offices of the water and sewer department in the municipal building will remain open until 4 p. m. Saturday to receive payments of the bills.

The department usually closes at noon Saturday but because the collection period is scheduled to close on Jan. 15, office hours will be extended this week.

MINISTERS BACK FROM M. E. MEET

Three From Mansfield Attend Session In Akron.

Methodist ministers from Mansfield and surrounding towns returned last night from Akron where they attended a one-day northeastern Ohio convention of Methodist ministers.

Those attending from Mansfield were Rev. E. G. Corwin, pastor of the First Methodist church, Rev. Paul Hollingshead, pastor of the Central Methodist church, and Dr. H. W. Peterson, superintendent of the Mansfield district of Methodist churches.

Others who attended are Rev. R. A. Hall of Ontario, Rev. H. T. Wintermute of Bellville, Rev. F. M. Dickey of Pavonia, and a number of laymen from the various churches.

BATTLE BLAZE

Employes Turn Firemen to Fight Gravel Company Fire.

CINCINNATI—(AP)—A score of employes of the Ohio Gravel company plant at Miamiville, east of here, turned firemen today to quench a blaze that caused damage estimated by company officers at $7,000.

Supt. Walter Flach said workmen utilized two of the plant's water pumps in the Little Miami river. Principal loss was to flooring and machinery.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wabbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

sion in the collection of taxes and enforcement of tax laws, particularly the retal sales tax, to increase available revenues.

3. Legislation to authorize a refund of from three to five per cent on the face value of sales tax stamps, to encourage tax-payers to insist upon receiving their tax coupons.

As a way to pay off the public school deficit, the committee proposed:

1. Enactment of legislation to authorize investment of inactive state funds in notes issued by the public school districts, and that until the notes are redeemed the interest be paid by legislative appropriations.

2. Appropriation from the general fund of $3,000,000 a year to redeem outstanding deficit notes, until all have been paid off.

Offers Alternative Program.

As an alternative program, if the present system of ear-making the cigaret, liquid fuel and part of the sales tax revenues for school purposes, is not abandoned, the committee proposed:

1. Retention of the present allocated taxes, including re-enactment if necessary, but that no new levies will be authorized.

2. Allocating to the public school fund $23,500,000 a year from sales tax revenues during 1939 and 1940, and any surplus revenue from this levy remaining after setting aside $8,402,500 for administration expenses and poor relief and $6,967,500 for the local government fund distributed among the local subdivisions.

3. Appropriation of $5,750,000 for the local government fund from the proceeds of the motor vehicle license tax, in order to make up sales tax revenues lost to this fund by the proposed change in the allocation of this money.

4. Granting to the local government fund any additional revenues from the sales tax, if the net collections for 1938 exceed $38,870,000, and a corresponding reduction in the appropriation from the motor license tax.

5. Prohibiting the issuance of further school district deficit notes in anticipation of payment of cash distributions from the public school fund.

APPEALS COURT TO HEAR FOUR CASES TUESDAY

Suit Involving Liability of Insurance Firm in Traffic Deaths Tops Docket.

Four cases will be argued before the Fifth district court of appeals when it convenes at 9 a. m. Tuesday at the courthouse, with Charles W. Montgomery as the presiding judge.

Heading the list is a suit involving the liability of the Mercer Casualty company of Celina, O., for damages resulting from a traffic accident near Steubenville in which five persons were killed.

Attorneys for Russell Plunkett, driver of one of the cars, and administrators of the estates of the accident victims, appealed the case after a jury in common pleas court here decided the insurance firm was not liable for damages, although it had issued insurance on the automobile.

Plunkett, who is serving a term in the Mansfield reformatory for manslaughter, was driving the car without the owner's consent, the insurance company contended. It also argued that the owner misrepresented his business when he applied for insurance on the car.

2 Appeals Filed In Case.

Two appeals were filed in the case, one on a question of law and the other on fact.

In another case to be submitted to the court, Charles Old, trustee in bankruptcy for the former Hal-Bark Men's store, seeks to collect $17,000 from D. R. Talbot who took over the assets of the store. Old appealed the case after a common pleas court verdict held that Talbot was not liable for losses suffered by Old.

In another case, Lottie Culler asks the court to reverse a common pleas court verdict which held she could not foreclose on property transferred from Wade Culler, defendant in a judgment suit, to his wife, Mrs. Bernice Culler.

The fourth appeal involves an attempt of H. M. Rust, trustee in bankruptcy for John Schwaner, to sell a property allegedly owned by Schwaner to use as an asset of the estate. Judge C. H. Huston ruled in common pleas court that the property, located in Mansfield, is owned by Schwaner's daughter and cannot be liquidated.

COUNTY INMATE GIVEN PAROLE

Four From Nearby Counties Also Freed From Prison Farm.

One Richland county inmate and four from nearby counties were among the 64 at the London prison farm granted paroles by the Ohio board of parole, dispatches from Columbus said.

The Richland county inmate is Elliott Ruby who is to be released April 1. Ruby was committed to the Ohio penitentiary Feb. 18, 1937 to serve from one to five years for sending a letter to obtain money.

Two Crawford county inmates to be released are Earl Camplin, and Oscar Kent, both serving terms for burglary, to be paroled on April 1. Jacob Austin, Ashland county, sentenced for non-support will be freed April 1, and Fred O. Parker, Huron county, convicted on an incest charge will also be paroled on April 1.

Book of the Week

"DISPUTED PASSAGE," by Lloyd C. Douglas; (Houghton Mifflin: $2.50.)

* * *

BECAUSE this reader does not like the sanctimonious, help-your-fellow-man-or-else atmosphere of Lloyd C. Douglas' novels he has bent himself backward almost to the ground to be fair to them.

"Disputed Page" will, quite likely, prove another success. It is pretty standard Douglas though once in a while even a reviewer bent backward must admit there is a page or so of bilge. But on the whole the story moves at an adequate pace, the characters live and teach the lesson Mr. Douglas wants then to teach with neatness and forbearance.

Very briefly, the story is this: A chap named John Wesley Beaven enters medical school and attends a class in anatomy. It is taught by the great surgeon Milton Forrester, nicknamed Tubby.

These are two strong men and they clash. Because Forrester, who is Beaven's superior, "rides" him for many years, Beavens learns patience, fortitude, devotion, humiliation and magnanimity. Being a wholy un-Douglassed person, we should simply have bashed Dr. Forrester with a 2-by-4.

Now we shall try to explain this curious and undoubtedly successful performance (from the financial standpoint). The explanation lies in Dr. Douglas' own life. Lloyd grew up the son of a preacher in Indiana, a little boy who had to be good or else.

Because he was marked off as a boy, he resolved he would not be marked off as a man. So he entered the ministry himself. His wife was the daughter of a clergyman. He was for years counsellor of students, first at Michigan University, later at Illinois. He is still a counsellor, although now most of his counselling is done by mail. He is pestered generously by the sort of person who would ask advice of a stranger of personal problems, and replies from his California home to all these, with entire seriousness.

These few facts seem to explain the sort of book Lloyd Douglas writes.

IMPORTS WILD GEESE

WILLOWS, Cal.—(U.P.)—Thirty wild geese, of half a dozen different varieties, which took refuge on the Spaulding wildfowl refuge after being wounded by hunters, have been shipped to Peter Scott, British ornithologist, who asked that 80 such birds be sent him if possible.

4 U. S. Warships to Make 'Good Will' S. American Tour

LOS ANGELES—(U.P.)—Coincident with the sailing of the first unit of the fleet for spring maneuvers, it was reported that four cruisers would be sent in March or April on a good-will cruise around South America.

The reported plans, on which naval authorities refused to comment, were to send the heavy cruisers San Francisco, Vincennes, Tuscaloose and Quincy on a trip touching at every possible South American port.

The new 10,000-ton warships comprise the cruiser division No. 7 commanded by Rear Admiral H. E. Kimmel. It was reported they would sail down the east coast, through the Straits of Magellan, and back up the west coast.

Such a cruise, following closely upon the Lima conference, would make the first time in 15 years that a United States naval vessel had rounded South America.

The hospital ship Relief was the first to leave the base here in connection with the spring maneuvers. It will stop at San Diego to land seriously ill men. The base force of repair and target ships sail tonight. Battleships and cruisers are scheduled to leave Jan. 4.

Water should be kept in the saucer under the pots in which spireaeas are grown as long as blossoms remain on the plants. Blossoms fall off because they do not get sufficient water.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES
This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief
Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 2 pounds of waste.
Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

FLUSH KIDNEYS OF EXCESS ACID AND POISONS—GAIN IN HEALTH
Stop Getting Up Nights—Be Happier—Live Longer
35 CENTS PROVES IT
That dragged out feeling may mean that your kidneys are inactive and distressed—persistent backache, nervousness and dizzy spells may mean the same thing.
Good active kidneys relieving the body of excess acid and poisons are what we all should strive to attain and when kidneys and bladder are distressed—
A good safe effective diuretic such as GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules is called for—so if you have to get up often at night—if passage is scanty or difficult and smarting or burning is in evidence—if you have shifting pains or leg twinges or puffy eyes it may help your health if you pay attention to your kidneys.
GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM Oil Capsules is a grand diuretic—for scores of years it has been used by people all over America and in other countries—it can't harm you.
In every GOLD MEDAL Capsule you get the genuine—the pure—the original Haarlem Oil right from Haarlem in Holland. So don't be an EASY MARK and accept a substitute—Look for the Gold Medal on the box. 35 cents.

YOU'RE A PART OWNER IN THIS VAST COMPANY

Do you live in Mansfield?

If you do, you might not know it but you have a claim to a part of $10,000,000.

You and the other 38,649 persons in Mansfield (City directory population figures) all share in these vast holdings.

Don't get excited though—its not the kind of property you can convert into cash and put away in the bank, go on a spending spree, or use to realize your fondest dreams.

The 10 million is the value of the property holdings of the city of Mansfield. It belongs to the corporation and to you as one of its stockholders.

The valuation is based on an inventory of municipal property, prepared today by City Engineer W. C. Statler, and includes all grounds, equipment and records of the various city departments.

71 Miles of Streets.

Largest of the eight classifications set up in the inventory by Statler includes 71 miles of paved streets and 92 miles of sidewalks, besides 21 miles of improved roadways valued at $4,700,000.

The waterworks was listed with a valuation of $2,000,000, which includes 96 miles of various size mains, the Woodland reservoir, five wells in the Maxwell field, south of Mansfield from which the city gets the greater portion of its water supply, and three pumping stations.

The city's sewer system, comprised of 67 miles of both storm and sanitary sewers, including the sewage treatment plant, was valued at another $1,200,000.

Public lands and buildings which Statler said included 125 acres of city owned parks, the municipal airport and the city hall was valued at $1,068,042.

Bridges within the corporation carried a total estimated valuation of $429,000, the fire department, including fire fighting apparatus, station houses and alarm circuits was valued at $234,700; police department equipment, with cruisers and radio station, $37,240, and street repair equipment, $20,000.

As Envoys Told of Ominous Signs In Europe

Before a secret, joint session of the military affairs committees of the United States senate and house in Washington, United States Ambassadors William C. Bullitt to France and Joseph P. Kennedy to Great Britain, tell of ominous signs in Europe and the threat of a major European war. The two ambassadors, shown with chairmen of the houes and senate military affairs committees, did not attempt to lay out a program for United States defense. Congressional members opposed to large United States armament outlays voiced a suspicion that the appearance of the two key United States diplomats was a "build-up" for the presidential defense message. Left to right, Representative Andrew J. May of Kentucky, Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, Bullitt and Kennedy.

CALLING ALL CARS---59 TIMES A DAY POLICE RADIO'S ON AIR

An average of 59 messages either to local officers or for other purposes, were sent out over Station WQFY, the Mansfield police radio station, every 24 hours during 1938, a report of the radio division of the police department revealed today.

There were 21,639 transmissions from police headquarters in the past year, with a total of 91 hours and 15 minutes on the air.

Of the total number of transmissions, 3,444 messages were broadcast to the city's four police cruisers, equipped with short wave receiving sets, in addition to 17,520 time signals, which are put on the air every half hour to assure officers that the receivers are in tune with the transmitter.

In addition, there was 41 messages broadcast over the state network through co-operation with the state highway patrol radio system, 150 messages to Richland county sheriff's cars, besides other messages to state conservation cars in this district.

There were 480 automobile license checks made during the year, 360 of these for the Mansfield sub-station of the state highway patrol, 90 for the Mansfield police department and 30 for the sheriff.

In addition to the routine work, desk sergeants, Claude Watts, O. D. Fair and Paul Martin, are called upon to handle messages to and from the reformatory regarding the apprehension and escape of inmates, both here and in other cities throughout the nation.

No record was kept of the number of requests made by radio to locate persons either in Mansfield or en route through the city to deliver death messages or locate missing persons and stolen automobiles.

The average hired man on a Kentucky farm received $27.31 monthly in 1938.

"Vendol Has Made Me Feel Like A Different Person"

Mansfield young lady was weak, thin, nervous and run down. Appetite was poor, felt dizzy, and head ached most all the time. Gives all credit to Vendol for wonderful improvement.

MISS CLELA BOSS

"If anyone ever needed a medicine to build them up and make life seem worth living, I was that person," says Miss Clela Boss, attractive young lady living at 32 Woodland Ave., Mansfield, to the Vendol Man in Central Drug Store recently.

"I had hardly any appetite at all, yet the little food I did eat distressed me terribly with indigestion. I would feel full and bloated from gas, and my heart would palpitate something awful. This upset stomach condition caused my head to throb and ache for hours, and if I got up or bent over quickly, I'd feel so dizzy everything seemed to whirl around. This all got on my nerves so bad that the least little thing upset me and made me tremble all over at any little excitement. I didn't have any pep or energy at all, just felt tired, wornout and sluggish all the time, and just seemed to ache all over.

"I decided to try the Vendol treatment, to see if it would help me as it had so many other people here in town, and it is hard to believe that any medicine could make such an improvement in anyone as it has in me in such a short time. With the aid of the little laxative tablets, constipation was soon relieved, and within a week I could tell Vendol was helping me. My appetite picked up wonderfully and now I look forward to mealtime. Everything digests as it should, no more indigestion or gas, and since my stomach is settled, the headaches and dizzy spells no longer bother me. Best of all, my nerves have quieted down wonderfully, and I'm gaining strength and energy every day, and am rid of that tired, wornout feeling. I sleep well and enjoy life more since I'm feeling so good, and I think Vendol is one wonderful medicine, for it has made me feel like an entirely different person."

Vendol is sold and highly recommended by leading druggists everywhere, and you can always get it at the Central Drug Store, Cor. Main and Fourth Sts., where the Vendol Man is on hand to explain all about it. Come see him today if possible.

APPEALS COURT TO HEAR FOUR CASES TUESDAY

Suit Involving Liability of Insurance Firm in Traffic Deaths Tops Docket.

Four cases will be argued before the Fifth district court of appeals when it convenes at 9 a. m. Tuesday at the courthouse, with Charles W. Montgomery as the presiding judge.

Heading the list is a suit involving the liability of the Mercer Casualty company of Celina, O., for damages resulting from a traffic accident near Steubenville in which five persons were killed.

Attorneys for Russell Plunkett, driver of one of the cars, and administrators of the estates of the accident victims, appealed the case after a jury in common pleas court here decided the insurance firm was not liable for damages, although it had issued insurance on the automobile.

Plunkett, who is serving a term in the Mansfield reformatory for manslaughter, was driving the car without the owner's consent, the insurance company contended. It also argued that the owner misrepresented his business when he applied for insurance on the car.

2 Appeals Filed In Case.

Two appeals were filed in the case, one on a question of law and the other on fact.

In another case to be submitted to the court, Charles Old, trustee in bankruptcy for the former Hal-Bark Men's store, seeks to collect $17,000 from D. R. Talbot who took over the assets of the store. Old appealed the case after a common pleas court verdict held that Talbot was not liable for losses suffered by Old.

In another case, Lottie Culler asks the court to reverse a common pleas court verdict which held she could not foreclose on property transferred from Wade Culler, defendant in a judgment suit, to his wife, Mrs. Bernice Culler.

The fourth appeal involves an attempt of H. M. Rust, trustee in bankruptcy for John Schwaner, to sell a property allegedly owned by Schwaner to use as an asset of the estate. Judge C. H. Huston ruled in common pleas court that the property, located in Mansfield, is owned by Schwaner's daughter and cannot be liquidated.

COUNTY INMATE GIVEN PAROLE

Four From Nearby Counties Also Freed From Prison Farm.

One Richland county inmate and four from nearby counties were among the 64 at the London prison farm granted paroles by the Ohio board of parole, dispatches from Columbus said.

The Richland county inmate is Elliott Ruby who is to be released April 1. Ruby was committed to the Ohio penitentiary Feb. 18, 1937 to serve from one to five years for sending a letter to obtain money.

Two Crawford county inmates to be released are Earl Camplin, and Oscar Kent, both serving terms for burglary, to be paroled on April 1. Jacob Austin, Ashland county, sentenced for non-support will be freed April 1, and Fred O. Parker, Huron county, convicted on an incest charge will also be paroled on April 1.

* * *

BECAUSE this reader does not like the sanctimonious, help-your-fellow-man-or-else atmosphere of Lloyd C. Douglas' novels he has bent himself backward almost to the ground to be fair to them.

"Disputed Page" will, quite likely, prove another success. It is pretty standard Douglas though once in a while even a reviewer bent backward must admit there is a page or so of bilge. But on the whole the story moves at an adequate pace, the characters live and teach the lesson Mr. Douglas wants then to teach with neatness and forbearance.

Very briefly, the story is this: A chap named John Wesley Beaven enters medical school and attends a class in anatomy, It is taught by the great surgeon Milton Forrester, nicknamed Tubby.

These are two strong men and they clash. Because Forrester, who is Beaven's superior, "rides" him for many years, Beavens learns patience, fortitude, devotion, humiliation and magnanimity. Being a wholy un-Douglassed person, we should simply have bashed Dr. Forrester with a 2-by-4.

Now we shall try to explain this curious and undoubtedly successful performance (from the financial standpoint). The explanation lies in Dr. Douglas' own life. Lloyd grew up the son of a preacher in Indiana, a little boy who had to be good or else.

Because he was marked off as a boy, he resolved he would not be marked off as a man. So he entered the ministry himself. His wife was the daughter of a clergyman. He was for years counsellor of students, first at Michigan University, later at Illinois. He is still a counsellor, although now most of his counselling is done by mail. He is pestered generously by the sort of person who would ask advice of a stranger of personal problems, and replies from his California home to all these, with entire seriousness.

These few facts seem to explain the sort of book Lloyd Douglas writes.

4 U. S. Warships to Make 'Good Will' S. American Tour

LOS ANGELES—(U.P.)—Coincident with the sailing of the first unit of the fleet for spring maneuvers, it was reported that four cruisers would be sent in March or April on a good-will cruise around South America.

The reported plans, on which naval authorities refused to comment, were to send the heavy cruisers San Francisco, Vincennes, Tuscaloose and Quincy on a trip touching at every possible South American port.

The new 10,000-ton warships comprise the cruiser division No. 7 commanded by Rear Admiral H. E. Kimmel. It was reported they would sail down the east coast, through the Straits of Magellan, and back up the west coast.

Such a cruise, following closely upon the Lima conference, would make the first time in 15 years that a United States naval vessel had rounded South America.

The hospital ship Relief was the first to leave the base here in connection with the spring maneuvers. It will stop at San Diego to land seriously ill men. The base force of repair and target ships sail tonight. Battleships and cruisers are scheduled to leave Jan. 4.

Water should be kept in the saucer under the pots in which spireaeas are grown as long as blossoms remain on the plants. Blossoms fall off because they do not get sufficient water.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 spoonfuls of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

FLUSH KIDNEYS OF EXCESS ACID AND POISONS—GAIN IN HEALTH

Stop Getting Up Nights—Be Happier—Live Longer

35 CENTS PROVES IT

That dragged out feeling may mean that your kidneys are inactive and distressed—persistent backache, nervousness and dizzy spells may mean the same thing.

Good active kidneys relieving the body of excess acid and poisons are what we all should strive to attain and when kidneys and bladder are distressed—often at night—if passage is scanty or difficult and smarting of burning is in evidence—if you have shifting pains or leg twinges or puffy eyes it may help your health if you pay attention to your kidneys.

A good safe effective diuretic such as GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules is called for—so if you have to get up GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM Oil Capsules is a grand diuretic—for scores of years it has been used by people all over America and in other countries—it can't harm you.

In every GOLD MEDAL Capsule you get the genuine—the pure—the original Haarlem Oil right from Haarlem in Holland. So don't be an EASY MARK and accept a substitute—Look for the Gold Medal on the box. 35 cents.

YOU'RE A PART OWNER IN THIS VAST COMPANY

Do you live in Mansfield?

If you do, you might not know it but you have a claim to a part of $10,000,000.

You and the other 38,649 persons in Mansfield (City directory population figures) all share in these vast holdings.

Don't get excited though—its not the kind of property you can convert into cash and put away in the bank, go on a spending spree, or use to realize your fondest dreams.

The 10 million is the value of the property holdings of the city of Mansfield. It belongs to the corporation and to you as one of its stockholders.

The valuation is based on an inventory of municipal property, prepared today by City Engineer W. C. Statler, and includes all grounds, equipment and records of the various city departments.

71 Miles of Streets.

Largest of the eight classifications set up in the inventory by Statler includes 71 miles of paved streets and 92 miles of sidewalks, besides 21 miles of improved roadways valued at $4,700,000.

The waterworks was listed with a valuation of $2,000,000, which includes 96 miles of various size mains, the Woodland reservoir, five wells in the Maxwell field, south of Mansfield from which the city gets the greater portion of its water supply, and three pumping stations.

The city's sewer system, comprised of 67 miles of both storm and sanitary sewers, including the sewage treatment plant, was valued at another $1,200,000.

Public lands and buildings which Statler said included 125 acres of city owned parks, the municipal airport and the city hall was valued at $1,068,042.

Bridges within the corporation carried a total estimated valuation of $429,000, the fire department, including fire fighting apparatus, station houses and alarm circuits was valued at $234,700; police department equipment, with cruisers and radio station, $37,240, and street repair equipment, $20,000.

As Envoys Told of Ominous Signs In Europe

Before a secret, joint session of the military affairs committees of the United States senate and house in Washington, United States Ambassadors William C. Bullitt to France and Joseph P. Kennedy to Great Britain, tell of ominous signs in Europe and the threat of a major European war. The two ambassadors, shown with chairmen of the houes and senate military affairs committees, did not attempt to lay out a program for United States defense. Congressional members opposed to large United States armament outlays voiced a suspicion that the appearance of the two key United States diplomats was a "build-up" for the presidential defense message. Left to right, Representative Andrew J. May of Kentucky, Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, Bullitt and Kennedy.

CALLING ALL CARS---59 TIMES A DAY POLICE RADIO'S ON AIR

An average of 59 messages either to local officers or for other purposes, were sent out over Station WQFY, the Mansfield police radio station, every 24 hours during 1938, a report of the radio division of the police department revealed today.

There were 21,639 transmissions from police headquarters in the past year, with a total of 91 hours and 15 minutes on the air.

Of the total number of transmissions, 3,444 messages were broadcast to the city's four police cruisers, equipped with short wave receiving sets, in addition to 17,520 time signals, which are put on the air every half hour to assure officers that the receivers are in tune with the transmitter.

In addition, there was 41 messages broadcast over the state network through co-operation with the state highway patrol radio system, 150 messages to Richland county sheriff's cars, besides other messages to state conservation cars in this district.

There were 480 automobile license checks made during the year, 360 of these for the Mansfield sub-station of the state highway patrol, 90 for the Mansfield police department and 30 for the sheriff.

In addition to the routine work, desk sergeants, Claude Watts, O. D. Fair and Paul Martin, are called upon to handle messages to and from the reformatory regarding the apprehension and escape of inmates, both here and in other cities throughout the nation.

No record was kept of the number of requests made by radio to locate persons either in Mansfield or en route through the city to deliver death messages or locate missing persons and stolen automobiles.

The average hired man on a Kentucky farm received $27.31 monthly in 1938.

"Vendol Has Made Me Feel Like A Different Person"

Mansfield young lady was weak, thin, nervous and run down. Appetite was poor, felt dizzy, and head ached most all the time. Gives all credit to Vendol for wonderful improvement.

MISS CLELA BOSS

"If anyone ever needed a medicine to build them up and make life seem worth living, I was that person," says Miss Clela Boss, attractive young lady living at 32 Woodland Ave., Mansfield, to the Vendol Man in Central Drug Store recently.

"I had hardly any appetite at all, yet the little food I did eat distressed me terribly with indigestion. I would feel full and bloated from gas, and my heart would palpitate something awful. This upset stomach condition caused my head to throb and ache for hours, and if I got up or bent over quickly, I'd feel so dizzy everything seemed to whirl around. This all got on my nerves so bad that the least little thing upset me and made me tremble all over at any little excitement. I didn't have any pep or energy at all, just felt tired, wornout and sluggish all the time, and just seemed to ache all over.

"I decided to try the Vendol treatment, to see if it would help me as it had so many other people here in town, and it is hard to believe that any medicine could make such an improvement in anyone as it has in me in such a short time. With the aid of the little laxative tablets, constipation was soon relieved, and within a week I could tell Vendol was helping me. My appetite picked up wonderfully and now I look forward to mealtime. Everything digests as it should, no more indigestion or gas, and since my stomach is settled, the headaches and dizzy spells no longer bother me. Best of all, my nerves have quieted down wonderfully, and I'm gaining strength and energy every day, and am rid of that tired, wornout feeling. I sleep well and enjoy life more since I'm feeling so good, and I think Vendol is one wonderful medicine, for it has made me feel like an entirely different person."

Vendol is sold and highly recommended by leading druggists everywhere, and you can always get it at the Central Drug Store, Cor. Main and Fourth Sts., where the Vendol Man is on hand to explain all about it. Come see him today if possible.

'DESERTED CITY'

High Rent Keeps London Block of 60 Houses Empty.

LONDON—(INS)—In the heart of West Wimbledon, a London suburb, there is a block of modern empty homes, 60 in number, which give the appearance of a "deserted town." Property of an eccentric real-estate dealer, who spends $3,750 a year to keep them in repair, the homes have not been occupied for years because of the exorbitant prices.

EAGLES TO MEET

GALION — Next Wednesday night the local aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will hold an initiation in honor of the 68th birthday anniversary of Conrad H. Mann of Kansas City, managing organizer of the lodge. At last night's meeting of the lodge, two applications for membership were received and added to the list of candidates that will be initiated next week.

Several visitors were present from the Ashland aerie, and talks were given by Trustees Long and Richards of the Ashland lodge.

FINISH WORK ON NEW BUILDING

Galion Workmen Completing Structure to Be Used by School Music Groups.

GALION — Musical organizations of Galion high school that have a busy schedule ahead for the remainder of the school year will have as an incentive for work a new music building which will be completed next week.

The building is the white frame construction at the northwest side of the Senior high school, a building that had been moved there when the Junior high school was constructed several years ago. This is being remodeled for the music department of Senior high school.

A platform stage of three tiers has been made for the building, and this may be removed to the high school building when it is needed there. The music room is being lined with cellotex to absorb sound and provide proper acoustics. The building will also have a storage room for instruments, music and uniform library. A gas unit is being installed to circulate heat in the building.

The groups that will benefit from the new department include the chorus of 70 voices, the 40-piece orchestra, and the band of 70 members. W. F. VonBrock is director of these organizations.

At present the chorus is looking forward to the presentation of the operetta, "The Bells of Cape Strana," which will be given either the last of March or the first of April.

FACING CHARGES

BUCYRUS—Two men, one a resident of Morral and the other a hand on the C. F. Hoover farm, southwest of Bucyrus, were arrested Wednesday by Sheriff Albert French and charged with the theft of 14 sheep from the Hoover farm.

The sheriff said Kermit Brady, 25, Morral and Granvil Holbrook, 24, the two men arrested, admitted the theft of the sheep which were sold through the stock barns at Marion. Six ewes and one buck were recovered near Beaver Falls, O. The others shipped to Philadelphia, were not recovered.

WILL IN PROBATE

BUCYRUS—The will of Henry Rindfuss, late of Bucyrus, which was filed for probate Wednesday, provides bequests of $100 each to two grandchildren, James and Marjory Rindfuss, and the residue of the estate is to be divided equally among the children, Carl and Robert Rindfuss, Alberta Quainance and Ada Woltz. Robert Rindfuss and John Quaintance are nominated executors.

3 HELD TO JURY

Ashland County Youths Held in Thefts of Chickens.

ASHLAND — Three Ashland county youths, Charles Cathers, 18; Fred Esterline, 19, and Earl Meeks, 19, all of Widowville, were bound over to the Ashland county grand jury after they pleaded guilty to charges of breaking and entering into various chicken houses in and about Ashland county in past weeks.

Unable to furnish the $500 bond which was imposed on each, the trio was remanded to the custody of Sheriff Dale Hammond, and is being held in the county jail here.

The youths were arrested at Loudonville by state patrolmen recently when they were driving with no tail light. A further check showed that the car they were using had a false license plate, that $12.60 in cash they had had been derived from the sale of stolen chickens, and that one of the boys was armed with a loaded pistol, patrolmen said.

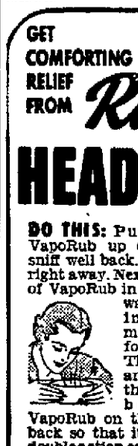
GET COMFORTING RELIEF FROM Runny HEAD COLD



DO THIS: Put some Vicks VapoRub up each nostril and sniff well back. You'll feel better right away. Next, melt a spoonful of VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water; then breathe in the steaming medicated vapors for several minutes. This loosens phlegm and further clears the air-passages. At bedtime, rub VapoRub on throat, chest, and back so that its long-continued double action can relieve the misery of the cold while you sleep. VapoRub acts direct through the skin like a poultice; at the same time its medicated vapors, breathed in direct, bring comfort to the irritated air-passages. Try it.

THE MANSFIELD NEWS AND MANSFIELD JOURNAL

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

The Mansfield News Founded by W. S. Cappeller, March 7, 1885. Published Daily Except Sunday by Mansfield Journal Co. Office: Fourth and Walnut, Mansfield, Ohio. Phone Canal 6251.

Entered at Postoffice at Mansfield, Ohio, as second-class mail matter.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 12, 1939.

More than 1,400 proposed laws were introduced during the first two days of the new congress—and the Ohio legislature isn't doing so badly along this line.

It seems entirely clear that a person who can't afford to pay the duty on diamonds can't afford to buy diamonds.

There may be some Republicans in Ohio who have jobs—but by this time Governor Bricker is probably inclined to doubt it.

Those Mounting Billions.

SOME Americans still remember the thrill that came over them when, early in 1917, they realized that their national government was collecting and spending more than $1,000,000,000 a year.

There was no great excitement, but a sense of pride and awe that we had become, governmentally, a "billion-dollar country." It meant extravagance, perhaps, but it also meant financial maturity.

The next year, the war forced expenditures up to more than $12,000,000,000, and in the fiscal year of 1919 the government spent more than $18,000,000,000, while collecting a little more than $5,000,000,000.

We never got back to that mere billion. After the war we jogged along for two years at five or six billions, then for ten years at an average rate of four billions income and a little less outgo. In 1931 the expenditure began rising again, while the income dwindled to two billions—increasing gradually since 1934 to nearly six billions.

We are now, on the basis of expenditure during this and the next fiscal year, ending with June, 1940, a $9,000,000,000 country. But on the basis of income, we seem to be currently a $5,000,000,000 to $6,000,000,000 country. Obviously we must soon collect more, or spend less, or both.

Republican Spain Promised.

WHEN Prime Minister Chamberlain went to Rome for his conference with Mussolini, which may prove to be almost as momentous as the famous Berchtesgaden and Munich conversations, he carried in his pocket a pledge from the Spanish government which should interest the world. It says that, if the Loyalist government wins the present civil war, it will avoid Communism and conduct itself as a "liberal parliamentary democracy." Also that it will co-operate with Italy and Britain in a Mediterranean pact to preserve that inland sea as a public highway for the use of all nations.

The anti-Communist pledge is important because the Spanish government has been accused, throughout this war, of dangerous radicalism, and that charge has been profitably capitalized by Franco and his supporters. The records show that the Spanish republic really started as a democracy, with representative government, but was pushed toward the Left by the Fascist rebellion and also by Communist and anarchist influences in Barcelona.

The world's democracies would support the Loyalists more openly and effectively if this matter were made clear, and if there were also assurances of more tolerance and co-operation between the Loyalists and the clerical party in Spain.

If Mr. Chamberlain can accomplish some such settlement of the Spanish problem, which must be on the agenda of this two-man conference, it may compensate for some of the harm he did at Munich. But there should be no more giving away of other people's countries.

Objects to Bill Collectors.

A VIRGINIA congressman tells of receiving a letter from a constituent suggesting a law should be passed to make bill collectors "quit worrying people about their debts."

The writer expressed belief that people cannot do their best while being narassed about overdue bills.

It seems rather odd, under the New Deal, that such an idea hasn't been put forward sooner.

If this notion can be hooked up with one that requires banks, business places and professional people to extend unlimited credit, regardless of ability to pay, the system would appear to b ideal.

Such a plan, moreover, seems better adaptable to individual needs than a mere pension plan of a couple of hundred dollars a month, as purchasing power could be extended practically without limit—if there was no requirement for bills to be paid.

This early part of January would be a good time to start popularizing the "Unlimited Credit—No Dunning" idea Clubs might even be organized.

High Schools In England.

GREAT BRITAIN, according to a recent report, is considering the establishment of a national system of free public high schools, comparable to our own. At present the British school system is said to be "a mixture of medieval foundations and modern attempts to provide some education." There are the so-called "public" or boarding schools, like Eton and Harrow, attended by wealthy boys. There are grammar or day schools for others. Since these nearly always charge a tuition fee, attendance is limited.

The reporting committee recommends that all fees in grammar schools be abolished, that courses be made more practical and that the government set up technical schools for vocational training.

All this reveals a surprisingly antiquated and inadequate school system, yet its product has always been considered rather good.

Boycotting Anne's Book.

THE public library board of a town in New York voted 13 to 2 against adding Anne Lindbergh's book, "Listen! The Wind," to its collection. As explained by the clerk of the board, the members disapprove severely of Col. Lindbergh's acceptance of a medal from Hitler. Boycotting Mrs. Lindbergh's book is the board's way of expressing that disapproval.

There may be others who will agree with that attitude, but there are probably more who will see that such a stand is a greater menace to Americanism than any number of Nazi medals. It is contrary to the basic ideals on which Americanism is founded—freedom of speech and press.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — Before Congress can become as independent as once seemed possible, it must prove that national defense does not envelop such a field as the President mapped out.

On previous occasions the President has used the tactics of putting Congress on the spot. His message to the 1939 session was right in harmony with the earlier procedures. He included under the program of national defense not only the usual business of building ships and guns but also virtually the whole New Deal program. In the President's view, labor legislation, stock exchange regulation, power development, social security—all these now become a part of the program of unifying the country internally against outside dangers.

Observers here agreed it was a smart move for the President, harassed as he is by threat of a recalcitrant Congress. Let Congress kick up its heels, said the President, but whatever it does, it will be responsible to the people for any damage to the national defense.

* * *

Nothing If Not Strategic.

ALREADY Congress has begun to kick up its heels, of course, for the President's move has been hinted for weeks past. It is not necessarily an impregnable position for him to take, but it is a strategic one, most authorities agree.

The President has been accused of making every problem an emergency in order to compel acceptance of his own plans for meeting it. It has worked often. In the instances of the court bill and the reorganization bill it failed.

In the beginning of his administration the President used the serious emergency of the collapse of business. He said democracy itself was at stake, that the three-part government was on trial, just as he says it now. In his inaugural address on that exciting March day in 1933 he expresed hope that Congress would respond to the needs of the hour and do the necessary.

"But in the event that the Congress shall fail . . . I shall ask the Congress for the one remaining instrument to meet the crisis—broad executive power to wage a war against the emergency, as great as the power that would be given to me if we were in fact invaded by a foreign foe."

* * *

He Got Results.

CONGRESS acted fast, with an acquiescence in presidential recommendations not equalled in peace time history.

The gold emergency came in 1934, and the President obtained authority to nationalize gold.

The condition of the underprivileged became in his view an urgent case in 1935 and Congress had to do something about social-security, about housing, and about tax reform that would take away some of the profits that concentrated power in few hands. As he put it, Congress had to act or face the onus of bad faith with the downtrodden.

The President's overwhelming victory of 1936 was accompanied by a comforting rise in prosperity. Congress, overwhelmingly Democratic, had no ground for an independent position until the court bill backfired. That came in 1937. Since then the trend toward an independent Congress has been widely observed. The trend was emphasized by returns of the last election.

Now the President challenges this independent Congress to act on its own hook—but warns it to deal cautiously with anything endangering the nation's defense in the face of greedy totalitarian nations. If Congress worsens the relationship between employer and labor, if it cuts spending enough to start a new recession, if it unsteadies the credit and banking structure—if it hurts any New Deal enterprise it impairs the national defense, says the President, as much as if it interfered with armaments themselves.

It was an off-center play that will test congressional mettle.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, Jan. 12, 1919.

Skaters were out in force at Maple and North lakes, with ice in fine condition.

Mrs. J. A. Brinley was called to Pitcairn, Pa., by illness of her brother.

Miss Bernice Ropp was appointed as typist in War Risk insurance department in Washington, D. C.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Friday, Jan. 12, 1934.

Costs of county government were pared down more than $40,000 by county commissioners.

Mayor Charles M. Lantz reappointed all city officials for another term.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Allen Williams, R. F. D. 5, at General hospital.

Mansfield board of education purchased lots on Euclid and Highland for future building purposes, at cost of $5,000.

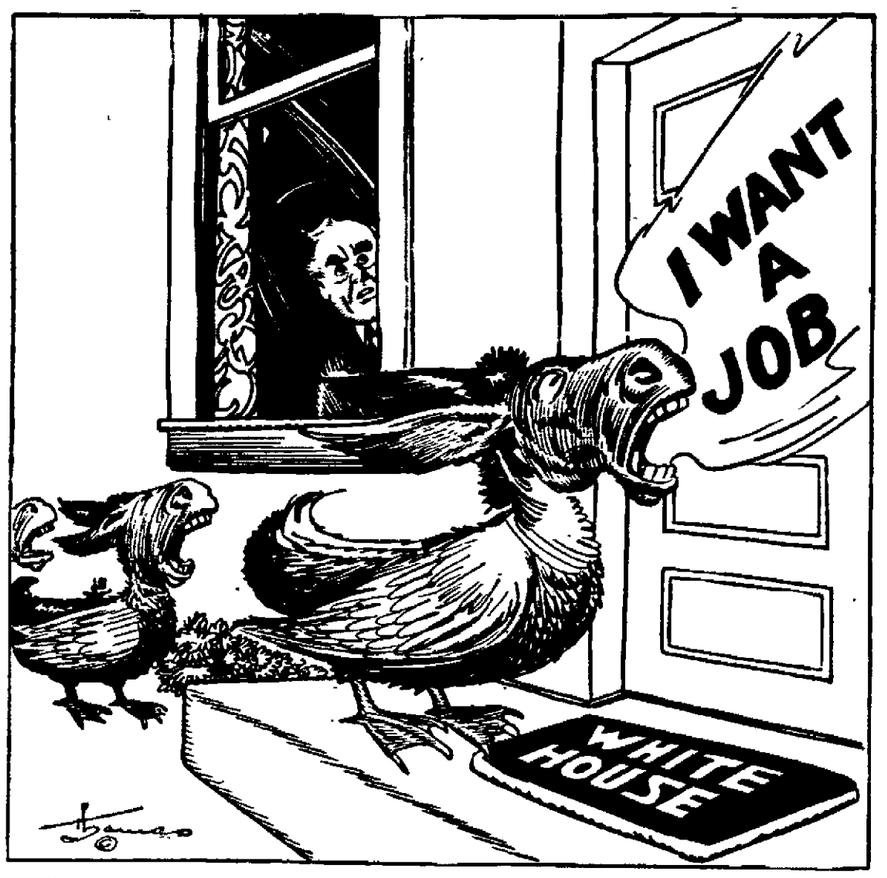
THE LAME DUCK CHORUS



'Tweedledee' Democrats Angered

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Roosevelt's Jackson Day speech, virtually inviting conservative Democrats to get out of the Democratic party, has not restored much peace in the party's ranks, judging from comment by its senators and representatives in Washington.

There are even some pretty good New Dealers who confess, confidentially, that they wish "F. D." had not expressed himself quite so uncompromisingly. Their idea has been to win conservative Democracy over gradually—not to make any important concessions to it, but not unnecessarily to antagonize it, either.

There also have been plenty of Democrats, generally regarded as of the conservative faction, who have favored lots of conciliation—indeed, a modicum of acquiescence in New Dealerism, to keep the party's right and left wings together. Vice President John N. Garner, as is well known, has led this group. Maybe he still does, but the President's outspokenness on Jackson Day has made his role extremely difficult.

Of course Republican leadership greeted that Jackson day address with unqualified rejoicing. "Let the Tweedledee Democrats," advised the White House tenant, "join the Tweedledum Republicans"—in effect suggesting, "Thus we un-Tweedled New Dealers will be left free to become unhampered liberals."

G. O. P. Welcomes Them.

With shouts of enthusiasm, such Republican managers as Senator Charles L. McNary and Representative Joseph W. Martin, G. O. P. bell-weathers on Capitol Hill, respond vociferously, "Welcome, brethren! Welcome home!"

This does not suit the kicked-out Democrats at all well. As Democrats they have been highly influential seniors. As Republicans they will come in as freshmen, if they do come in. Nevertheless, where else have they got to go? Accordingly fears are voiced in Democratic quarters that there will be a considerable party exodus following that Jackson day talk—which clearly meant, "Be good or be purged." Quite a few politicians may prefer to anticipate purgation.

True, as an offset to possible Democratic defections, the President made a bid for liberal Republican (and miscellaneous) recruits to the New Deal.

Except, Republicans are not likely to shift as readily at the present juncture from their own to the New Deal side as are Democrats to shift the other way. Such Republicans as are left are middling solid.

Sore-Heads A Factor.

If a Republican is a Republican it is because he believes in Republicanism. There is nothing in it for him.

But a Democrat is after a job. If he gets it he is satisfied. If he doesn't he is on the administration's warpath. Trains into Washington are so crowded with federal position-seekers that there isn't Pullman-room for them. Such of these guys as get appointments will be as New Dealerishly loyal as possible, but there are not nearly enough appointments to go around among them. There will be some DIS-appointments.

For every appointment, there are certain to be several soreheads.

Who's A Liberal Anyway?

Now, which is which?

I always used to think that Democrats were liberals and that Republicans were conservatives. Grover Cleveland spoke of Republicanism (supposedly he was a liberal in his day) as a "communism of pelf."

Presently he was termed an ultra-reactionary.

Well, in my time in Washington, I always thought that Democratic Senator Burton K. Wheeler was a Communist; he was so considered; he semi-admitted it. He was a rampant radical.

Now the New Deal classes him as a Tory.

For a long time we have needed two new parties—a conservative and a liberal, regardless of Republican and Democratic labels.

Today we need three groups: Right, left and middle.

Grab Bag

One-Minute Test.

1. From what countries may immigrants enter the United States without quota restrictions?

2. What substance is used almost exclusively in the manufacture of high grade perfumes?

3. Has any president of the United States been entirely of Irish ancestry?

Words of Wisdom.

Never put much confidence in such as put no confidence in others. A man prone to suspect evil is mostly looking in his neighbor for what he sees in himself. As to the pure all things are pure, even so to the impure all things are impure. —Hare.

Hints on Etiquette.

One-Minute Test Answers.

1. Dominion of Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Haiti, Dominican Republic, the Canal Zone, and the independent countries of Central and South America.

2. Ambergris.

3. Andrew Jackson. His parents were both natives of Ireland.

You and Your Nation's Affairs

The National Grab-Bag.

By ELIOT JONES

Professor of Transportation and Public Utilities, Stanford University.

The President has expressed his gratification and pride that the Federal Government has been able to render so much help to the states. This help includes, to mention but a few items, relief payments, farm rehabilitation, crop benefits, and the construction of many public works, such as flood control projects, public buildings, parks, sewers, and highways.

The "help" rendered by the Federal Government has been welcome, generally speaking, to the states and their political subdivisions, and particularly to the governors, mayors, and other executive officials. Federal "help" has relieved them of the necessity of recommending state and local taxes to met the cost of providing the services supplied for them by a "benevolent" government. Since taxes are unpopular, the state and local officials have been only too glad to shift to federal officials the onus of suggesting and imposing the necessary taxes.

But where does the Federal Government get the money with which to do all these pretty things for the states? Obviously it gets it either by taxing the people of the states, or by borrowing from them, which of course means more taxes sooner or later. The Federal Government has no spending power except that which is derived from its citizens, and they must pay in the end, with interest, for all the "help" received from the Federal Government. The government, by borrowing and running up a huge deficit, may postpone the evil day of reckoning, but that day will surely come.

The President remarked that "it has taken courage for the Federal Government to go into the 'red' to help state and local governments get out of the 'red' or stay out of the 'red'." Maybe so, but it would have taken much more courage to have resisted the demands of the numerous pressure groups that have besieged and still besiege Washington.

The President referred specifically to the governor of one state in whose election the Chief Executive was taking a hand, and said that the governor "never came to Washington and went away empty-handed." It may have required "courage" always to do something for the governor, but it would have required more courage to insist upon greater local responsibility in the provision of essential services and the raising of the necessary funds. While it may have taken courage to help the states reduce their deficits, it would have taken more courage for the federal administration to redeem its oft-repeated promises to bring the national budget into balance.

What a mercenary attitude the benevolent policy of the Government has developed is well illustrated by the recent remarks of a successful candidate for governor of a southern state. Said this patriot: "I am not saying that all of Mr. Roosevelt's plans are sound and right, but as long as he has the national grab-bag open and as long as all the other states are grabbing, I'm going to grab all I can for the State of Texas, and will do all I can to bring within the borders of our grand and glorious state every dollar that we can get."

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Bauble—"The Fool's Club."

Not always did "bauble" have the significance of trifling finery or gee-gaw.

Today's "bauble" was originally "The Fool's Club," the jester's scepter—a short stick, ornamented with fantastically carved ass's ears, which was carried as a sign of his trade, by the licensed clown.

"If every fool," ran the old saying, "held a bauble, fuel would indeed be dear!"

The reference, obviously, was to the many fools in life who did not wear the jester's clothes nor carry his bauble—the number being so great that there would not be enough wood to give each of them a little stick.

Considering the baubles upon which so many people lavish their means and energies, and which are no more useful or beautiful than the fool's stick with the ass's ears, the extension of the meaning of the word "bauble" to its present use is logical.

Listen, World!

God Bless the Pluggers!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

FUNNY things about us mortals. We can be so brave when things are acting up! Give us an earthquake or a murder, a shipwreck or a riot and we're Johnny-on-the-spot! Heroes and philosophers, saints and sages. Nothing's too risky for us . . . nothing's too dangerous! We'll dash smack into the flames . . . or leap headlong into the the surf . . . or smack a lion on its jittery jowl and never bat an eyelash.

But just put us against a little monotony . . . a few dull days when nothing's happening—and watch us flop! Forthwith we become the orneriest pests that ever blighted the tribal tree!

Take me, f'instance . . . provided, of course, that the wife or the homicide squad doesn't object. Gimme a Crisis and—if I do say it myself—you couldn't find a Finer Little Lady in the land. Helpful? You should see me! While the other citizens are shrieking, bawling, howling, heaving, wringing their fists and wrecking their permanents, I move serenely on my way, giving advice, applying bandages, rescuing family silver, pet poodles and first mortgages . . . every inch the Wonder Woman.

But let things get all nice 'n' quiet . . . with no excitement . . . no family feuds or office brawls . . . not a smitch of danger anywhere . . . and how does Little Elsie act?

Frankly, Palsy-Walsy, Lil' Elsie acts like the deuce!

Theoretically, Peace is my favorite indoor sport. Practically one day of it turns me into a howling dervish with paranoiac tendencies and a slight touch of rabies.

All of which probably proves, according to you, that Guys like us are Super-Souls, whose style should never be cramped by the tedious program suited to the Dull Old Dobbins of the human race. And I'd give a lot to agree with you but, unfortunately, I can't. For circumstances forced me to abandon that Super-Soul theory long and long ago and to realize that—

It isn't the speedsters or the Smarties Who Save Civilization—

BUT THE GOOD, LOYAL OLE PLUGGERS!

Hate, as I do, to admit it, Excitement is no great test of character. Practically Anyone can put on a swell act during a massacre or an explosion. BUT IT TAKES A REALLY GRADE-A SOUL TO PRODUCE THE GOODS WHEN NOTHING'S HAPPENING!

For Life, taking it by'n' large, is no Fourth of July Celebration. To the contrary, it's a long, slow and extremely dull performance. For Characters, like Plumb Puddings, take a lot o'cooking before they amount to much. It probably took ten million years, at least, to produce One Little Woman who was willing to stay at home and darn Hubby's Socks . . . or One Reg'lar Male who could be depended upon to mend the kitchen screen door. Whereas almost anyone is willing to be a Human Cannon Ball at five minutes notice. You'd be surprised at what people will do for applause and a coupla grand.

So, as I was saying, Gallant Souls deserve practically no reward. But there should be a special issue of gold medals—both human and divine—for the patient, persevering plodders who just plug along and take it, without headlines. God Bless 'em, say I . . . they're the Real Works. And Heaven forgive us Fourth Alarm Smarty-Pants!

Timely Editorial

America's Privileges.

An estimate generally credited is that the people of the United States own 95 per cent of all the bathtubs in the world. It would be easy from this to jump to the conclusion that in the United States personal cleanliness is more highly prized and more generally maintained than elsewhere in the world, which certainly would not be true at all.

The defect of such an argument would be shown by stating another fact: The people of the United States have more automobiles than bathrooms. Obviously that chain of reasoning does not prove that the rest of the world having fewer bathrooms and still fewer automobiles has less appreciation of automobile touring. They just haven't the resources to enjoy the luxuries that are common to a very large percentage of the people of the United States.

Gratitude, rather than a sense of superiority to less fortunate peoples, is the correct sentiment to seek from a realization of the benefits of American citizenship. —Detroit News.

A Farmer's Diary

Out of the Fog.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

IT WAS a chilly, foggy day. I went for the mail, along our rough, frozen drive, and slipped about upon the damp, new coat of snow. When I reached the box and looked back, I could not see my home. All the familiar landscape, the nearby woods, the hills and trees, was blotted out. I felt shut in from all the world about—imprisoned by an eerie, wavering, misty wall.

I pulled the mail out carefully, looked at each piece, and started back down the little grade, with it under my arm. A team of horses and a hay ladder wagon passed. The snow had balled up on the horses' feet, and rolled in chunks about the road. I saw the splotches of hard, dry, dusty ground the moving hoofs had left.

As I entered a little hollow, a gust of wind came through between the gray hillsides, and blew against the bank where tall weeds stood, and high grass, stiff and matted. It made weird music, bewitching, brittle and clear. I heard it faintly move across the valley, then it faded from my listening ear. The pipes of Pan, could not be more surprising.

I stopped and stood. With every passing gust, the delicate crescendo was repeated. I thought how often in my quiet walks along silent fencerows, or in naked woodland haunts, there must be music that I cannot hear. Only in the storm and confusion of the fickle currents is it audible to me.

My dog that traveled with me frequently would often stop and listen in almost frantic stillness, but I heard nothing.

To some keener ear, and more receptive heart, perhaps the morning stars did sing together—and their music is ever constant, could I but hear it.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—It's getting so now that people don't care what they say to you. This afternoon I was pecking out words when a young man came by with a big pasteboard box. He picked up the wastebasket and dumped all the wastepaper into his box. He went on to the next desk, and the next, and finally, after making the rounds of the office, he came back to my desk and stood there for a moment.

"You're going better than usual today," he observed. I didn't get him for a second or so. "I mean," he explained, "you generally have a pretty tough time of it. I've seen you fill baskets in no time at all. You put in a sheet of paper, and write 'By George Tucker' at the top of it, and then stop. You sort of gaze off into space, and then you turn around and light a cigarette, and look off into space some more. Finally you tear out the paper, throw it into the basket, insert a new sheet, write 'By George Tucker' across the top of it, and then you start looking off into space again."

* * *

"WELL," I said defensively, "my ideas change. I start to write about something, and then I get another idea. What's wrong with that?"

"Nothing's wrong with it," he said, "just as there's nothing wrong with all that paper you throw away. You'd be surprised how much paper we pick up around here."

"Do you really get much?" I asked, agreeable to anything that would change the subject.

"Oh, sure," he replied, "plenty."

"Well, how much?"

"You mean just in this office or in all of Rockefeller Center?"

"The whole Center."

"It varies," he said, "but last month we took away 19,000 bags of wastepaper. That's a lot of paper. That's a lot of bags."

"It sure is," I agreed. "How much do those bags weigh?"

"They weigh 60 pounds, Mister, but we don't sell it. We pay to have it taken away."

"Hmmmmmmm."

* * *

"SURE," he went on. "I bet they've taken away a ton of paper with your name written on it. Sometimes your old columns get in there too. I read one of them once. It was about a snake charmer who got fired and then became a model for a tattoo expert."

"Well, I'm a son of a gun."

"Yeah, sure," he said, "but it went out with the rest of the waste stuff. It was baled and sold by the people who take it away. They get a pretty good price for old paper, I hear."

"Yeah, I guess they do. I wonder how much they really get?"

"It varies—sometimes $2 a ton, sometimes $2.50." He picked up his big pasteboard box and began to move off. "Don't let anybody tell you that isn't a good price—$2.50 a ton. Doesn't that sort of make you feel good, to know your columns have a definite commercial value?"

DUCE FAILS TO SCORE IN TALK

foreign minister and son-in-law whom Mussolini is grooming as his successor, appeared confident that the conferences would be successful. Mussolini seemed preoccupied and somewhat ill at ease. Whether that was due to his well known distaste for such social functions and for late hours, or because the opening conversations with the British leader had not gone to his liking, remained a question.

The fact that another meeting for this afternoon, not previously scheduled, was decided upon at the termination of the first talk indicated that no positive results had been achieved thus far.

Seldom at international conferences have the principals kept so close-mouthed regarding their conversations.

The usual sources of information which normally would know what was going on, admitted frankly that they had no inkling of the course the conversations had taken or even the subjects touched on. Thus there was considerable guess work as to what went on.

The silence of both parties would seem to indicate that neither had yet anything to crow about.

Judging by the attitude of the British delegates upon their arrival, if Mussolini had suggested or yet suggests what he is known to want—the recognition of the Spanish nationalists as belligerents—the answer is, firmly and unequivocally, that Britain refuses to grant belligerent rights until Italy has completely withdrawn its aid to the insurgents.

Italian opinion seems to be equally firm, that Mussolini must be assured of a nationalist victory in the Civil war before there is any substantial withdrawal of Italian aid.

Mussolini has thrown more lives already into the Spanish war than he did into the Ethiopian war, in addition to many hundreds of million lire in materials.

Constipated? You Should Get at the Cause!

Lots of people think they can't be "regular" without frequent trips to the medicine chest. "I just dose up and get it over," they tell you. But doctors know they don't "get over" at all—until they get at the cause of the trouble!

Chances are it's simple to find the cause if you eat only what most people do—meat, bread, potatoes. It's likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If that fits you, your ticket is a crunchy breakfast cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran. It contains the "bulk" you need plus the great intestinal tonic, vitamin B.

Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and just watch the old world grow brighter! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

JUDGE SUSPENDS CLERK OF COURT

to have been uncovered during the period of the regular audit were responsible for the decision reached in Columbus yesterday, to continue the audit to the present date, it was learned.

Ports, who was appointed clerk of courts three years ago by Judge Kalbfleisch shortly after he took office, is under $3,000 bond.

City officials had no knowledge of the situation. They pointed out that the municipal court does not come under the jurisdiction of any administrative officer of the city. The court was created by act of the state legislature in 1927 as an independent body. Under the terms of that act, to which the city agreed, the only connection the city had with the court was to furnish quarters and equipment. This was done by ordinance.

Lost Auditor Roll.

Ports, a Republican, ran for auditor in 1934 against Auditor Paul L. Kelley. After the first tabulation of votes, Ports was declared victor by a margin of only a few votes in a hot race.

Ports was then appointed clerk of courts by Kalbfleisch, who won judgeship in the same election.

Zook said it would be several days before he has completed the audits of the municipal court records. When he completes his work, his findings will be sent to the state auditor's office in Columbus and will be released there, along with the audit report on city offices, which has not yet been completed.

WHY ARGUE

Look, ladies and gentlemen—this is Ohio. Agreed? This is the only state in the Union where you can get Guaranteed Winter Starting. Right? And without a gasoline as dependable as SOHIO X-70, Standard Oil would not dare make such a guarantee. So why argue about gasolines? Whatever gasoline you use other times, you surely should be using SOHIO X-70 during the "blizzard season" this month and next!

CHAPTER 43.

"I just saw Peaches sitting over near the orchestra," he said. "I'll take her bracelet to her, and put her on the pan for losing it. Great fun."

Jauntily he walked away with the piece of jewelry and neither Thornton nor Worthington Gurley raised a hand to protest it. Neither knew how, as a matter of fact; they could only stare at him, then at themselves, open mouthed, as Bob turned the corner and yodeled, "Hey, Peaches Pomeroy!"

Of one accord the two followed Bob, and paused where they could see him approach Peaches. The big football man ambled jauntily up to her, smiling, and said something—they couldn't hear what. He held his right hand in his pocket. He and the girl talked back and forth for a moment as if bantering each other, then all at once Bob produced the bracelet and held it out to her.

The terrified expression that had suddenly come over Peaches' face was a sight to behold.

* * *

PART OF Bob Towne's life, indeed the better part of it, consisted of having fun with people, teasing and playing and contriving sundry pranks. It was one secret of his popularity. He never had enemies; he liked everybody, or kept his counsel if he didn't. Even though he had been definitely "off" Peaches Pomeroy this fall, he had maintained open fellowship with her. He would have called it stupid for anyone to go through life snubbing an acquaintance, however good the cause.

"Hi, Peaches, old kid," he had greeted that lady, grinning widely.. "I got you where I want you!"

Peaches might have known that meant some sort of tasing. But Peaches was already on edge, for good reason.

For one thing, it was nearly midnight, and he had not spoken to her all this evening until now. That he should eventually come was pleasant. It tickled her vanity. Indeed, it was what she had badly wanted—to be singled out by some handsome man, some hero. And Bob Towne was the football hero of the day, probably of the season. So, she returned his greeting with mingled nervousness and pleasure.

"How are you, Bob? You were wonderful this afternoon!"

"Yeah, sure, always am. They're gonna make me governor, then president, or dictator, just because I snagged a lateral pass. But I'm talking about you—say, lemme see your bracelet, Peaches. That pretty diamond one. Will you hunh?" He waited, grinning in devilment.

Instantly her expression froze.

He might have struck her, or jabbed her with a pin—that would have angered and shocked her—but thus to probe painfully into the very secret depths of her soul—!

"W-what?" She almost croaked it, so strained was her throat.

"Lemme see that bracelet you always wear. The one you had on earlier this evening?"

A dozen thoughts streamed through her brain.

Was he joking? What did he know? Did he really know something, or was his interest genuine, and a pure coincidence? Could he possibly have seen her hide the thing in the Davis woman's coat?

Well, there was but course of action—she'd have to bluff.

"Ha, ha-a-a, you look green with fright, old kid, so I won't haunt you any longer. Here it is. Be more careful with your toys. Some crook might find it next time."

* * *

He dropped the bracelet into her lap and was gone. He might have told her more, but three couples had crowded up demanding noisily that he show them his own version of "The Owl Hop," a specialty dance more florid than the Big Apple. He disappeared in the throng.

Peaches stared at her jewelry in complete desperation.

Not half an hour ago she had concealed it in her enemy's coat, sure that no one was looking. She knew positively that Bob Towne and Sara Sue Davis had never left the dance floor. And yet—here the bracelet was brought to her by debonair Bob Towne himself! How much did he know? What could she do? She couldn't begin to imagine what had happened, and she dared not ask

Peaches Pomeroy was literally sick with apprehension. She trembled in nervous nausea, had to go to the women's lounge and lie down, hiding her face in abject misery, uncertainty, fear.

* * *

In high contrast to Peaches' feelings, however, was the brightness felt this hour by Sara Sue Davis.

The lovely young widow had never in all her life had such an exciting evening. People had been so kind to her, so attentive, so generous with gaiety and fun. End of football season with its tension seemed to be a happy let-down for everybody. The costumes were so gay, the music so entrancing, romance seemed literally to permeate the air.

Romance. Sara Sue dealth in romance, professionally and personally. She had devised a clever way to make a living with it, she who had experienced it herself. True, one big spot in her heart was heavy, for Fate had taken a sardonic slap at her, allowing her to be eminently successful guiding other peoples' romances while failing utterly to take care of her own She knew, now, the misery or unrequitted love in its worst form. But this particular evening she had determined to keep her sadness hidden even from herself if possible; she would dance and laugh and be gay if she could. It takes strong nerves thus to bury one's inner sadness, and hers was the worse because she could tell it to no one, share it with no sympathetic friend.

It had hurt, at first, to see Peaches. She had seen them dancing early. Her lips had trembled, not in jealousy, but just in pain, until she reminded herself that she must be happy for Thornton's sake. At least he had what he wanted—the Pomeroy girl. If that meant his happiness, then Sara Sue should be happy for him. With that unselfish reasoning, the pretty young widow had tossed her head back and set out to be gay.

Many a friend had been willing, anxious, to help her in that. Among them were Don Romero, Bob Towne and T. J. Sanders, her escort. These three had competed hardest for dances with her. The formal program that T. J. had arranged began to be broken during the evening. People cut in ad lib. There was much gaiety about it. It is better always when a collegiate ball goes its own way, not too cut and dried, but just impromptu. Nobody cared what happened. Sara Sue must have changed partners a hundred times, often not getting more than six or eight steps before some other admirer would break in.

"I'm going to handcuff you to me," Bob Towne threatened once, when another football man took her away. She smiled her appreciation.

Insofar as she could, she favored the man who had brought her, T. J. Sara Sue never was one to be a butterfly about men, accepting all favors everywhere. She felt that as T. J. had honored her by asking her for this date, he should have whatever major courtesise she had to bestow. Men appreciate this consideration in women more, perhaps, than any other one thing, even though they are happy to have their girls sought after by other men.

"You are just naturally a gentleman, Sara Sue!" T. J. declared, enthusiastically, when she had helped him dodge another man trying to cut in. "A scholar and a gentleman."

"I suppose you mean a lady." She squeezed his arm.

"I suppose so. Anyhow, you're swell, kid. Say, I—Oh, Lord!"

They danced on together, smoothly, happily. He had been very good to her. She had been very good to him. That intangible something of mutual respect existed between them. T. J. felt it tonight more than ever, and it—together with the general atmosphere of color and happiness and song—caused him to reach a decision.

* * *

Acting on delightful impulse, T. J. led Sara Sue across the hall into an alcove, around behind some massed vines and flowers and other decorations where there was a bench in a private spot.

"Sit down," he ordered, gently. "I've got somthing I must say."

"What is it, T. J.? Plotting something?"

"I shall waste no words, my darling. Sara Sue, I have been plotting this for weeks! I am helpless before you. I want you more than anything else I ever wanted in all my life. I want to marry you. I love you with every ounce of my being. I—I honestly don't know how to say it. how to say how deeply I feel. Just—just that I love you, is all. And want you to marry me. Will you, Sara Sue?"

He couldn't have said it more impressively if he had rehearsed a thousand times. He spoke ever so tenderly. His eyes had a misty yearning. He held one of her hands in his own, sitting on the bench near her, looking intently into her face.

It was so perfect, so utterly fine, that it verily startled her. T. J. was like that. Impulsive, capable, sure. He had never faltered in his wooing of her. He had been aggressive from the first day. He had set out to get something, and now he had brought matters to showdown.

"O—T. J.!"

Sara Sue murmured it. She had to swallow hard. Emotion had seized her. "Oh, T. J., you—" She looked pleadingly at him.

"I'll do anything for you, Sara Sue. Anything in God's world. I am not good enough—nobody is good enough for you! But I—I'll devote my life to trying. Honest I will. I love you so; love you so!"

Love you so!

The moment was sacred, exalting, divine.

CUTS EXPENSES

New Canton Mayor Orders Lay Off of 88 Employes.

Taken from the payroll were 44 in the street department, nine in the city street painting crew, 27 in the municipal waterworks shop, five in the city water office and three in the city garbage department.

The 1938 American soybean crop was the largest in history and put this country back into the world's export market for this product.

ELECTED AGAIN

Officers of Richland Farm Loan Association Renamed.

Officers of the Richland County Farm Loan association, with G. H. Culler of Monroe township as president, had been re-elected today. The firm's financial report for 1938 showed that county farm loans had been reduced about $3,000.

The association handled 290 federal loans on farms last year, totaling approximately $1,000,000, Vance Clever, secretary-treasurer, reported.

Clever was re-employed as secretary-treasurer for 1939 and Avery Hale, Mifflin township, was chosen vice president again. R. R. Howard, Cass township, was re-elected director for three years. Other directors who were held over are Culler, Hale, Ray William, Troy township, and Fred W. Dill, Jefferson township.

Speakers at the association's annual meeting at the First United Brethren church were Harold G. Olin of the Production Credit association, Ashland; Robert Barr, contact man for the Mt. Vernon CCC camp, and County Agent George B. Ganyard.

PAYING HABIT LINGERS

SALINAS, Cal.—(UP)—Felipe W. Montoye, local Filipino, allowed by the court to pay a $20 fine on the installment plan at the rate of $5 a week, acquired such a habit of it that after the full fund was paid he showed up again at the end of the next week with another $5. Only an examination of the books finally convinced him that he was out of the red.

RAIL BROTHERHOOD AUXILIARY ELECTS LEADERS AT CRESTLINE

CRESTLINE—All the old officers were retained for next year at the regular meeting and annual election of the ladies society, to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineer's held Tuesday evening in the B. of R. T. hall.

The officers are as follows: Mrs. F. L. Stough, president; Mrs. C. W. Frank, vice president; Mrs. D. A. Joll, secretary; Mrs. William Lamoureaux, treasurer; Mrs. C. C. Corbin, warden, Mrs. Ernest Baker, collector; Mrs. R. L. Mick, chaplain; Mrs. J. G. Lightburn, conductor; Mrs. T. D. Harbaugh, inner guard; Mrs. Ross Cowell, outer guard; Mrs. John C. Beaver, pianist; Mrs. C. I. Peaslee, flag bearer and Mrs. Frank, trustee. These officers will be installed at the next regular session, Jan. 24, at which time a social hour will be held.

MEET IN ELYRIA

County Officials Invited to North Central Ohio Session.

Richland county commissioners, auditor and engineer had been invited today to attend a meeting of the North Central Ohio Commissioners' Auditors' and Engineers' association Wednesday noon at the Elyria country club.

Speakers at the session will be O. P. Van Schoik, chief state relief examiner, and Ferd Becker, state tax specialist.

Every Sufferer From

CONSTIPATION

Wants These 5 Things

No wonder Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are FIRST choice of so many thousands of grateful users.

1. They contain no harsh drugs. Being purely vegetable, Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are harmless.
2. They assure a mild yet thorough cleansing without griping.
3. Olive Tablets ALSO (important) stimulate liver bile flow to help digest fatty foods and tone up intestinal muscular action.
4. Pleasant tasting. Easy to swallow.
5. Economical. Only 15¢, 30¢, 60¢.

For over 20 years Dr. F. M. Edwards successfully treated scores of his patients with Olive Tablets. Their fame soon spread and today they are sold and heartily recommended by druggists everywhere.

ATTEND DISTRICT SCHOOL MEETING

4 Members of Senior High Faculty at Vocational Guidance Event.

Seven members of the Senior high school faculty were in Cleveland today visiting schools and attending a meeting of the Northeastern Ohio Vocational Guidance association.

Four of the faculty, Jesse Beer, principal, H. D. Bishop, assistant principal, John C. Stout and George Bishop will attend a meeting of the guidance association in the Union Commercial building this evening. "Opportunities for Graduates of Commercial Courses" will be the subject to be discussed by the group.

Three English teachers of the school were in Cleveland today visiting Shaker Heights high school, and studying teaching methods in the English department of the school. The three teachers are Misses Emma G. Waring, Florence Shires, and Margaret Gaver.

MAKE 50 STOPS

Britain's King and Queen to Spend Five Days In U. S.

OTTAWA—(Canadian Press)—The itinerary of King George and Queen Elizabeth of England, made public last night, disclosed they would make about 50 stops in Canada during their month's tour of Canada and the United States beginning May 15.

The itinerary indicated they would spend about five days in the United States, but did not give any details. They will cross the international boundary at Niagara Falls June 7.

NECK FRACTURE SURPRISE

SYDNEY, Australia—(U.P.)—Charlie Ward, tripped up by a fellow garage employe, caustically remarked, "You might have broken my neck." As the neck was still stiff when he arrived home, he treated it with liniment. X-rays a few weeks later showed that the neck was really broken. Now Ward wants $8,000 damages.

FILES 1ST BILL

Texas Congressman Seeks Chain Store Tax Law Again.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The honor of introducing bill No. 1 in the house went today to Rep. Wright Patman, D., Tex., for his chain store tax bill, which failed of passage last session.

Patman obtained priority for it by filing in advance for the privilege. His bill would levy excise taxes on retail store chains, on a sliding scale based on their size. Chains with more than 500 stores would be taxed $1,000 per store.

A refreshing citrus cocktail may be made by combining equal portions of orange and grapefruit juices with bottled lime juice. It should be served chilled.

G. O. P. Forces Discharge of Leasure From New State Job

DAVEY FRIEND DISCHARGED BY 'SQUEEZE' PLAY

Leaves $4,000 Position After Republicans Threaten to Cut Public Works Funds.

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS — (AP) — The house of representatives concurred today in senate amendments to the $43,000,000 partial appropriations bill, which now goes to the governor.

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Republican legislators chalked up another win today over their Democratic rivals when they succeeded in forcing the dismissal of Charles Leasure, Zanesville, from a state job which he held only a few hours.

The squeeze was worked on Public Works Director Carl Wahl, Defiance, a Davey man, when the senate threatened to slash salaries of the public works administration from $21,500 to $4,000 in the partial appropriation bill.

After debating over the bill, which will provide state departments and institutions with $43,000,000 until July 1, 1939, the house passed it and sent it to the senate, which also approved the measure. It goes back to the house today for concurrence.

Hits State 'Collusion.'

Most important of the several amendments to the bill was a clause inserted by the senate that no expenditure of funds for state supplies be approved by the auditor unless the vendor furnishes an affidavit that there was no collusion by any person, firm or corporation in securing the contract for the vendor.

The amendment was aimed at so-called legal graft which a senate investigation committee in the last legislature alleged was rampant in state departments.

Wahl had appointed Leasure to the $4,000-a-year job of state canal lands agent, but the Rpublicans balked at the move of the public works director, who was re-appointed for one year by former Governor Davey in the eventful final week of the 92nd general assembly.

The senate went to work to rip the department's salary appropriation apart, but Governor Bricker stepped in at the request of Senate Majority Floor Leader Frank E. Whittemore (R-Akron) and ordered Wahl to dismiss Leasure.

Leasure, who the senate in the last session refused to confirm for reappointment as chairman of the unemployment compensation commission, had been named canal lands agent yesterday to succeed E. E. Booton, who retired Jan. 1.

Wahl was reported to have promised Bricker to go along with the administration's economy program. He pointed out that he saved $7,500 in the department by grouping jobs of maintenance superintendents into one and appointing Zenophon G. Hassenplug as maintenance head at $5,000 a year.

Hassenplug was an engineer in the highway department under Davey and the chief collector for the Kent tree surgeon's $3,600 automobile, presented to him when he left office.

DIES IN WILLARD AFTER OPERATION

William T. Hershiser, 56, Farmer, Was Huron County Native.

WILLARD — William T. Hershiser, 56, a Richmond township farmer, died early today at Municipal hospital following an operation he underwent Monday morning.

Born March 31, 1882 in Richmond township, Mr. Hershiser spent his entire life on the farm on which he was born. He was a member of the United Brethren church and a former township trustee and school board member.

He is survived by his wife, Pearl; four daughters, Mrs. Velma Wilcox of Willard, Mrs. Aleda Peck of Attica, and Aura and Edna at home; three brothers, Chester and Samuel of Richmond township, and Ralph of Cleveland; a sister, Mrs. Edna Fritz of Richmond township, and two grandchildren.

The body was removed to the Fink funeral home pending funeral arrangements.

STICKEN AT 80

Marion Sanborn Dies At Home of Daughter South of City.

Marion O. Sanborn, 80, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Frank Ford, four miles south of the city in Washington township, Wednesday evening after an illness of several weeks.

Mr. Sanborn, a retired blacksmith, resided in Cleveland before coming to this vicinity in December to make his home with his daughter. Two daughters, Mrs. William A. Arnold of Germantown and Mrs. Ford; two sons, Guy and Frank of Cleveland, eight grandchildren and five great-grandchildren, survive.

Services will be held at the Irving Dress funeral home in Cleveland at 1 p. m. Saturday, with burial in the Brooklyn Heights cemetery.

Up and Down THE STREET

H. R. Fiedler, assistant secretary and treasurer of the Farmers bank, and one of the most enthusiastic philatelists in Mansfield, has an interesting display of cancelled stamps and envelopes in a Walnut street window of the bank. The cancellations are from 65 big cities of the world, outside of the United States. In the center is a map of the world, and around this are the envelopes, with a string leading from the stamp to the place on the map from which it came.

A Main street merchant who is an addict of rummy and one of the better players, was so upset the other night when he lost three straight games that he immediately decidad there must be a reason. Someone suggested that perhaps his eyes were bad, and he forthwith rushed to an eye specialist and was fitted for glasses. Today he had decided that he would wear the glasses only when he plays rummy, as he gets along very well without them at all other times.

An attractive commercial display of candy is attracting attention this week at the Painter Candy company, North Mulberry street. It advertises a number of products which have "Sky" as a trade name. The display includes mechanically operated airplanes and two marionette clowns who demonstrate that the candy has "pep." When a switch is turned the two clowns go into a lively and realistic clog and buck-and-wing dance.

When the Luther Swigart chapter of the Rainbow Veterans association hold its meeting tonight at the Dugout, clubrooms of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in the basement of the Memorial building, it will be the first time that women have been welcomed to the place. The basement was done over last year—and done very attractively—but the V. of F. W. decided that it should be strictly stag quarters and no woman should cross its door after the opening day. But when they invited the Rainbowers to meet there permanently, the answer was "Only if we can bring our missuses!" and permission was given.

BUYS COLISEUM

Roller Rink Operator Acquires Big Recreational Building.

Mansfield's largest recreational building, the Coliseum, which stands at the western edge of North Lake park, exchanged hands this week when Mrs. Rilla Smith, Dayton, sold it to Harry Denis, who has operated a roller skating rink there for the past year and a half.

The building and 16 lots facing Elmwood drive were acquired by Denis whose home is in Mansfield. He also operates skating rinks at Coshocton, Logan and Wooster.

The Coliseum was erected early in the 1920's by R. F. Cox, who managed it for many years as a combination public auditorium and dance place. He sold it about three years ago to Mrs. Smith.

Denis will continue to operate the Coliseum as a roller skating rink, with his wife in charge. The transaction was made through G. W. Bahl, realtor.

JAILED AS SPY

Wife of Soviet Agent Held in Los Angeles in Navy Plot.

LOS ANGELES—(U.P.)—Federal agents arrested today a blond beauty as a spy. She was the wife of the Soviet intourist agent here, already indicted in a plot to steal navy secrets for Russia.

As soon as the federal grand jury returned a third indictment in the espionage case, G-men and deputy marshalls took Mrs. Natasha Gorin, 32, in custody. She was accused of possessing information taken from the files of the naval intelligence unit at San Pedro.

LOCKE ELECTED CHAIRMAN OF RICHLAND RED CROSS CHAPTER

William J. Locke, who as Roll Call chairman, has piloted the Red Cross membership campaign to success for three successive years, was elected chairman of the Richland County chapter at its annual meeting yesterday afternoon.

The executive board was chosen by the members of the chapter and later, at an executive session, the new board named its officers.

Others elected are Fred L. Tracy, vice chairman of the chapter; Allen Bond, treasurer, and Gertrude B. English, executive secretary. Locke succeeds Roy R. Spetka who headed the chapter for the last two years. Spetka remains on the board.

The membership of the executive board other than the officers, includes John H. Finefrock, Mrs. George L. Draffan, Spetka, Mrs. V. E. Vining, Mrs. John Pierce, Dr. R. C. Wise, Harold D. Burns, Mrs. William J. Bishop, Rev. Hayes M. Braker, Mrs. L. A. Adams, L. W. Birch, W. L. Miller, Dr. Hugh Winbigler, Milo W. Hieber, Lewis M. Campbell, Mrs. Alan Tappan, Joseph T. Geiger, R. D. Iden, Mrs. C. C. Fish of Shelby, Mrs. G. W. Pickens, Plymouth, and Mrs. J. B. Kochheiser, Ilville.

Mrs. English, Mrs. Bishop, Harker A. Enlow, director of safety education, and Tracy, gave reports on the past year's activities.

Mrs. English said that the Richland county chapter now has 9,391 members and raised $11,896 during the November Roll Call. One of the most interesting phases of the chapter's activities is its volunteer service. Last year, 1,276 persons in the city and county gave more than 13,000 hours to Red Cross work. Among the sewing work done by this group were 505 garments and articles for General hospital and 101 Christmas gift bags for American soldiers and sailors in service in the Canal Zone.

The chapter gave out from its emergency chest 239 new articles of clothing, 32 pieces of new bed clothing and five layettes.

The chapter collected approximately $500 last spring for disaster relief in various parts of the country. It's home service (for war veterans) handled 632 individual cases.

A motor corps was formed during the year and now has 15 members. One of its duties this year was transporting blind persons to the WPA school at the Salvation Army hall.

Mrs. Bishop, chairman of Junior Red Cross, reported that her division had 11,485 school children enrolled. They earned the money to provide eye glasses for 60 underprivileged children and made hundreds of small gifts for persons in hospitals which were distributed on holidays. Another Junior project was the institution of civilian fingerprinting in all city and county schools last year.

Enlow, director of safety, told of the highway first aid stations that had been opened during the past year in the county, making eight in all. Twenty-six classes in first aid were conducted and 276 persons received certificates for completing the course.

Tracy gave a report on the life saving program carried out during the year. A full time swimming and life saving instructor was employed during the summer months and instructions were given at all of the pools in the county.

STEEL LEADER'S WIFE STRICKEN

Mrs. Charles M. Schwab, Mate of Bethlehem President, Dies in New York.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Mrs. Charles M. Schwab, wife of the steel magnate and philanthropist, died early today at her Manhattan home. Mrs. Schwab, who was in her late 70's, had been in ill health for some time.

She was the former Emma Eurana Dinkey of Loretto, Pa., and was married to Schwab in 1883.

Schwab, modest in his success, often credited his wife when he was praised for some accomplishment.

At one time he was offered $50,000,000 for a half interest in the Bethlehem steel company. Discussing the proposal with his wife, whom he always took into his confidence, he said:

"That is a big sum. Half of what I have is yours. What shall we do? If we sell, your share invested at five per cent will bring you an income of more than $100,000 a month for the rest of your life."

"We wouldn't sell for five times that much," Mrs. Schwab replied. "What would I do with the money and what would you do without your work?"

The offer was declined.

Mrs. Schwab had been a virtual invalid for several years.

DEATH CLAIMS PLYMOUTH MAN

Charles T. Elder, 86, Succumbs At Home From Pneumonia.

PLYMOUTH—Charles T. Elder, 86, a native of Holmes county, died Wednesday night at his home following an illness of pneumonia.

Born near Lakeville in Holmes county, Mr. Elder had lived in Plymouth for the past 13 years.

Surviving are three daughters, Miss Nellie Elder at home, Mrs. Anona Root of Plymouth and Mrs. Floyd Binger of Canton; two sons, A. C. Elder of Louisville, Ky. and C. T. Elder of Cleveland, and two sisters and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the home with Rev. J. C. Campbell, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating. Burial will be in the Greenlawn cemetery.

DECLARE PLAN WOULD FAIL TO HIKE REVENUES

$5 Fare From Coast to Coast Meets Opposition; Senator Endorses Principle.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Railway management experts opposed a proposal to postalize passenger fares today, contending that the increase in traffic would not be sufficient to compensate for low long-distance rates.

Private rail opposition to the plan, which has been endorsed in principle by some congressmen and economists, was disclosed after a meeting here at which it was explained to principal railway executives.

Former State Sen. John A. Hastings of New York, author of the plan to divide the country into passenger zones with a maximum coach fare of $5 from New York to San Francisco, and his principal financial backer, F. R. Fageol, Kent, O., Twin Coach company president, outlined the scheme to the rail leaders.

Can't Ignore Distance.

Later, in a private memorandum, the rail experts said they opposed the plan because "distance cannot be entirely disregarded as a factor in the cost, the value, and the rate of passenger transportation service."

"To fix one rate for all distances, ranging from one mile to more than 1,000 miles, would discriminate against certain communities and favor others, and would burden short-haul passengers to help long-haul passengers," the memorandum said. "To whatever extent the government might protect the railroads against loss through its guarantees, railroad passengers would be unduly favored at the expense of the taxpayers in general."

Hastings denied that his plan, which also calls for unification of all railroads into a single system, would "place any burden upon the short-distance rider."

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D., Mont., chairman of the senate railroad committee, and Brookings institution President Harold G. Moulton, outstanding economist, have endorsed the principle of the plan although neither has approved specific details.

RITES FRIDAY

Student Who Ended Life to Be Buried at Londonville.

LOUDONVILLE — Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Friday at the Methodist church here for Kenneth K. Kettering, 18, of Lakewood, a student at the Baldwin-Wallace conservatory of music who hanged himself Tuesday in a college fraternity house.

The body will be brought here following services at 10:30 a. m. Friday in Lakewood. Kettering was born in Loudonville and attended elementary and high school here. He graduated from Lakewood high school and was a freshman at Baldwin-Wallace. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Kettering, and is a distant relative of Charles F. Kettering, vice president of General Motors.

Brooding over a three-day workhouse sentence imposed on him for speeding was believed the reason for the suicide act. He was arrested for speeding twice within 10 minutes near Berea on the night of Dec. 12 and was sentenced to three days in the workhouse.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Tom Mooney Enjoys His New Role But Is Still Radical Moscow Adherent

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—The Communists will take the bows for Tom Mooney's liberation, but the real hero and winner is George Spelvin, the average American.

Mr. Spelvin released a prisoner who frankly admires a rule which, in similar circumstances, would have shot Tom Mooney for the expression of his political beliefs. Mr. Spelvin thereby vindicated not Mooney but himself and American beliefs rather than the beliefs of Mooney's comrades. The average American acted to protect his own rights, and the pardon was a repulse not only for Mooney's own adherents and exploiters but the Nazi-Fascists, who think alike with them under different labels.

The long crusade to turn Mooney out of San Quentin and heal a sore on the American system was won by Americans who hate Communism and whom Mooney's political comrades hate and revile. Indeed, to the Communists, Mooney in prison, even in the privileged status which he enjoyed for years, was more valuable than Mooney himself. At the same time he was a reproach to all believers in the American system and an implied threat to their liberties. If the Communists alone had made the fight he would still be in San Quentin, if not long dead by hanging.

* * *

But Mooney, free, is still a radical in deep sympathy with Moscow and an admirer of Josef Stalin, and not a leader or spokesman of American labor. Fortunately for him, most Americans resented his imprisonment on the ground that it violated their beliefs, not his. They may resist any attempt on his part to assume that his pardon was an indorsement of his career before he went to prison or his political activities since.

Even while he was still in prison—with a key in his pocket, so to speak, out on parole at any time—Mooney expressed admiration for Stalin and, while demanding vindication and release with honor, defend the slaughter of the political opposition in Moscow. They were enemies of the state, said he, and so deserved any punishment the state chose to inflict for its protection.

Trotsky, he said, had betrayed the revolution. Mooney had had the benefit of a form of trial, at least, farcical though it may have been, but the same idealist who condemned that farce adjudged Trotsky guilty without any trial and, consistently, would have sent him to the firing squad, the approximate fate of enemies of the state.

And, for the consideration of those who may be asked to accept his leadership on the ground of his love for his fellow-men, it should be added that the pure idealist of San Quentin expressed contempt for his 5,000 fellow-prisoners and sympathy only for himself and men who had been convicted of dynamiting the Los Angeles Times, including one who had confessed.

Now Mooney, at liberty, will turn altruist and busy himself to obtain a pardon for his partner in martyrdom, Warren Billings, who suffered as much or more during the long struggle but was seldom mentioned in the propaganda which made Mooney the star of the piece. He had little to say of Billings all this time, but came to regard himself as a world symbol. He spoke of himself in the third person, and his vanity enjoyed the fame which spread wherever Communists made propaganda against the American system of government and the peace of the people.

* * *

But Billings will not be freed by Tom Mooney, although Mooney will accept more applause for his release. Billings will be freed by the same force that finally repudiated the very method that would have killed them both within a few hours in Russia.

Whether Mooney accepts the exhortation of California's Governor Olson to counsel the people against the "futile and inhuman chaos of bloodshed and revolution," his remarks soon will tell. It has been denied that either ever handled dynamite, although Billings once was convicted of that. But, on the subject of violence, there remains an interesting afterthought in Billings' defense against the murder charge. This non-violent martyr would not have been guilty of the bombing, because at the very hour of the disaster Mr. Billings was far from the scene, engaged in the non-violent occupation of spraying automobiles with acid to ruin their paint work in the peaceful prosecution of an orderly little strike which was in progress at the time.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—They jumped the budget on "The Little Princess" the other day.

They added another $300,000 to the million dollars already invested in a picture "carried" by a nine-year-old child named Shirley Temple.

Nobody in Hollywood raised an eyebrow at the news. It's likely that nobody gave it a second thought. If a steel corporation or a railroad or an automobile factory should give a big position to a young man twice Shirley's age, it would be big news and the stockholders would raise more than eyebrows. But in extraordinary, topsy-turvy Hollywood, a thing like this is just an item in the trade press.

Gambling that much on a curly-top kid? In Hollywood's mind that isn't gambling. That's money in the bank—with interest. True, it's more than they've ever spent on a strictly starring vehicle for a child. But this child is Temple. For the fourth consecutive year Temple leads the Motion Picture Herald's exhibitor poll as the nation's top box-office favorite. That is a feat unequalled either by Will Rogers or Marie Dressler. To keep Temple there, they'll spend more on her pictures, give her better casts—and they won't think of it as gambling.

* * *

A producer with a million to spend can be separated from it as easily in the movies as he can in a bearish market.

But he can take out insurance. Having Temple under contract is one excellent form of insurance, presently not available. The next best bet, generally, is to sink the dough into an outdoor spectacle—a "western." A picture like this has to be pretty bad to avoid clicking. Even when the actors chew the scenery, there's so much of it left that the public eats it up. Action and scenery together make a good insurance policy—a big "western" is rarely a gamble.

A BIG musical is a 50-50 deal. The whole project, like the music, can go "sweet" and come out "sour." Its probably hindsight that says "Alexander's Ragtime Band" was no gamble. Actually, nobody — not even Darryl Zanuck — knew beforehand to what extent Irving Berlin's tunes would sweep the land in their screen revival. On the other hand, a piece like "Top o' the Town" promised much but delivered little. A team like MacDonald and Eddy will show a profit in anything they do now at the crest, but even they can slip occasionally. (They've made much more successful films than "Girl of the Golden West," for instance.)

Star names used to be the only box-office insurance needed. Not so today. Stars can give a poor picture a lift but they can't make it go. (Vis: Clark Gable-Myrna Loy in "Parnell.")

Some real gambles?

Fantasy. ("Alice in Wonderland" lost—not because it was fantasy, but because it didn't hold together. "Snow White" clicked—they say the "Wizard of Oz" will also.)

And the unusual, off the boy-meets-girl track. ("Pasteur." "Zola," "The Good Earth," in which Chinese boy meets Chinese girl.)

Controversial themes. ("Blockade." "Nazi Spy.")

Historical tragedies. ("Marie Antoinette.")
